UNHITCHING THE STAGE: The bowlers on the heads of the gentlemen unhitching the team of four horses may be more Goy Nineties than Revolutionary War. But the rest of the setting is a fairly authentic recreation of the way they used to carry mail and passengers from New York to Philadelphia. The coach left New York Monday morning and, as it did in Colonial times, spent the night at the Nassau Inn. Atop the coach which is shown on the north side of the Nassau Inn, are Frederic Fox, left, Recording Secretary of Princeton University, and John Seabrook, from Salem, N.J., a member of the Class of 1939. After a Tuesday morning appearance on Cannon Green on the University campus, Mr. Seabrook drove the stage coach on toward its destination at Independence Hall in Philadelphia. The run was made to benefit the Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia.

Firearms Law Tabled, Bike Paths Move Ahead

Hunkering down under a 90-minute fusillade from hunters opposed to the Township's ban on shooting, Committee ended up tabling the ordinance (one is tempted to say "ordnance") amendment that started it all — on a technicality.

One clause in the amendment allows establishment of indoor or outdoor shooting ranges if the police chief finds they meet national standards. It suddenly occurred to Committee to find out what exactly what these standards are before passing the amendment. Hence, the tabling. A copy of the standards will be available for study in Township Hall.

In a more tranquil part of the forest, Committee passed the measure allowing construction to start on Phase 1 of the new bike path plan. Then it found that the sole bidder, Joseph Castoro and Company, was too high. The firm bid $40,473.75 to construct the paths, exceeding the $40,000 appropriation. Committee quickly decided to get together with the bidder and see what can be worked out.

Speed is essential, observed Committeeman Abbott Low Moffat, because both Borough and Township want to get Phase I on the ground before snow flies. Final routes are still to be worked out, for the Bayard-John-Leigh area.

Mayor Jay Bleiman explained to an audience question that under state law, cyclists must use bike paths where they exist. A local ordinance pinning down this requirement will be along in time.

Nobody protested establishment of the paths, only their limited mileage. Barbara Schleyer, 18 Wheatsheaf, urged paths in the Snowden-Hamilton section, and Committee member Barbara Smoyer reminded her that others want paths south of Nassau.

"Next year, we hope!" Mrs Smoyer said.

Bang! "Can we have limited hunting now?" demanded members of the Antlers Club Lst year, club members obtained a court injunction allowing hunting on private land. They have also taken the Township to court over the ordinance prohibiting discharge of firearms. No decision yet.

Committee isn't inclined to take any actions while the case is in court. When an Antler suggested issuing permits, either to Township residents only, or to Antlers, attorney Gordon Griffin shook his head. Illegal, he said, to discriminate on the basis of residence — or membership in a club.

Mayor's Position. "I'm not yet convinced hunting can be allowed in a way that's safe for the public," stated Mayor Bleiman, and he repeated his position frequently during the evening. (Through an error, the mayor's position was incorrectly stated in last week's TOWN TOPICS.)

Joseph Trani, the Antlers' chief spokesman, declared that he could produce 1,000 names on a petition asking for limited hunting, and he repeatedly asked Mayor Bleiman and Committee, "Are you against hunting?"

Mayor Bleiman invited him and other Antlers to show Committee a plan which would accommodate both hunters and "the legitimate fears of residents." Home-owners have written him about their fears of hunters, said the mayor.

Mr. Trani protested that previous conversations between hunters and home-owners had not been fruitful, but Antlers and Committee may indeed meet and talk.

Across the aisle, meanwhile, residents of Caldwell Drive were loading up for Jac Weller, noted gun collector who lives on Herrontown Road and has an outdoor shooting range. B. T. Sheehan, 74 Caldwell Drive, said he acknowledged Mr. Weller's shooting skill, might use the range. Besides, but worried about others who he said, the smallest of the four Sheehan children can't read warning signs.

When Committeeman William Sutphin queried the zonlegality of a shooting range as "a proper accessory use for a dwelling," Mr. Griffin was stumped: "I don't know," he said.

Mr. Sheehan warned that Caldwell Drive neighbors may take Mr. Weller to the Zoning Board on the question.

No Walk! In other business, Committee sheepishly tabled an ordinance for a sidewalk along Ewing to Guyot Avenue.

Mrs. Anthony Gaylord, 354 Ewing, told Committee indignantly that in her neighborhood of old lot lines and old houses, she owns right up to the street — no room for a sidewalk, no right-of-way. She made it clear that she had no intention of giving up land and trees for a Township walk.

A parking ban on the west side of Race, eagerly approved by residents, was passed.

The agreement with the Princeton Shopping Center on interior traffic changes was signed. Engineer Joseph Hodak estimated one month at least, before signs and markers can be set up.

Committee introduced a $30,000 ordinance for replacing and repairing parts of the Hillside Avenue sewer, built only eight years ago. How so? Committee asked. Mr. Hodak said he questioned claims made by manufacturers of the sewer pipes and hoped the lines wouldn't have to be re-done again in 1981. Public hearing, October 15.

Another ordinance up for public hearing that night, will be $6,600 supplemental appropriation to buy the Houghton-Castoro canal-side land for open space. "We hope the Borough will share," said Mayor Bleiman.

John Schwartz, PHS class of '74, was named youth observer to the library board.

Princeton Community Housing's back 1972 taxes will be paid by the state, so no tax sale will be required.

Job Skills Program

help send this kid to Rutgers for the agriculture course."

Under Mrs. Silverstein's program, a girl at the YWCA helps toddlers get dressed after swim class. A youth at the YMCA is a group-leader three afternoons and Saturday mornings. A girl is learning flower arrangements and selling at a florist's. Other girls are waitresses in local restaurants.

"If only I could find a boy interested in short-order cooking!" wails Mrs. Silverstein. "So MANY of those jobs are open! And it's a great way to work your way through college."

Princeton's employers are regarded with almost religious reverence by both Mrs. Silverstein and Mr. Scott.

"Beautiful people!" Mr. Scott exclaims. "Employers around here will do anything to keep a kid in school."

"Princeton's employers!" and Mrs. Silverstein's eyes shine. "they will take flyers on kids who are awful! And so often, the kid works out fine. They don't have the kids doing flunky jobs, either. They are just — well, remarkable."

Negative Viewpoint. Mrs. Silverstein thinks the negative side is one of the positive things about programs like these.

"A kid sees what he DOESN'T like," she says, shrewdly, "maybe kids don't know what they want to do. They try something they think they'd like, and find it's lousy. But they have no responsibility — no family to feed, no mortgage to meet — so they can drop it and find something they really want."

The Distributive Education Program includes any business in which a product or service is sold and money changes hands. This means a range from banking to shoe-repair. Co-operative Industrial Education is the learning of an industrial skill.

Students who elect both a job and classroom work, earn 15 credits. Classroom work only, gets five. Students must spend 15 hours a week on the job. Law requires employers to pay them at the going rate for trainees.

Federal Funds Help. Both programs are partly sustained through Federal funds, administered through the Vocational Division of the New Jersey Department of Education. The Distributive Education program has $4,050 this year, used for part of Mrs. Silverstein's salary, her travel expenses (teachers travel to students' jobs to supervise) and whatever equipment is needed. The Co-operative Industrial Program gets $2,000.

Inside the classroom, before going out each day into the work-a-day world, students in these programs talk about their experiences and get whatever background they need for their jobs.

"Economics, and how society operates in terms of money flow — that's the kind of class work we have," Mrs. Silverstein explains, "and then, we exchange the terrors we've each had on the job. You get a kid with a problem, somebody else in class has already faced it, and can help. They help each other grow, help each other face the new situations that are part of the business world."

"I've seen such changes in a kid in the two years of this program!" she exclaims. "Such maturing! More in charge of themselves, more knowledgeable about how to operate!"

Drop Out Insurance. "I KNOW these programs have helped keep kids in school," says Mr. Scott, and Mr. Petrillo is in total agreement.

"When I see a drop-out from school, it hurts!" Mr. Scott explodes, "I get good, aggressive, eager-to-work kids in my program, and I'm doing my damndest to keep them in school!"

But teachers and Mr. Petrillo feel it's simplistic to say these programs merely help the kid who can't get along in school.

"More kids today are vocationally oriented," Mr. Petrillo thinks, "they're oriented toward earning a living, and for many years this was not so."

"The programs answer a lot of needs," Mrs. Silverstein agrees, "help a kid earn money while he's in school, and eventually, help show him what he really wants of life."

How to Fix a Toaster

"We want to give kids more than just bookwork — let them get their hands in the clay!" is the way Frank Soda, dean of the faculty at PHS, describes the one-semester courses he started for students who aren't necessarily going into a formal skill or trade.

Furniture re-finishing, how to repair and service small appliances, practical welding, a chef class for boys, craft shops where you can do leather-work, enameling, jewelry-making, basket work, personal typing for kids who want a useful life time tool.

These are brief, one-semester courses, meeting perhaps four times a week. Since PHS no longer has study halls, the courses open up new doors of experience and offer a productive, non-bookish way to spend a free period.

GARAGES POSTPONED

Council Wants Discussion. The "Go Slow" sign went up Tuesday for the town's first parking garage, and the expected resolution was withdrawn from the Princeton Regional Planning Board agenda.

Borough Council member Barbara Sigmund said she pointed out Tuesday morning to Mayor Robert W. Cawley that Council as a whole had never discussed the proposed garage with Councilman Thomas Cawley's parking committee.

"We want to know things like how many cars? Extra spaces or a trade-off? Bus and bike lanes? That kind of thing," Mrs. Sigmund said.

She and Mayor Cawley said that a special executive meeting of Council will be held to hear the plans, and the resolution will come up again at the Planning Board's November meeting.

At that November 7 meeting, incidentally, the Board will start its 1974 budget public "listenings."

The Planning Board told Dr. Arnold Hirsch to come back with more details of his current proposals for the corner of Valley and Harrison. He has presented plans for that corner before. This time, there are apartments on the second floor of his two-story structure. But the board wants more detail.

Plans for the private sculpture studio envisioned by J. Seward Johnson Jr. for Mercer and Lover's Lane (adjoining Marquand Park), will be forwarded approvingly to the Borough Zoning Board's October 18 meeting. The Planning Board will suggest that the zoners recommend Borough Council give the necessary use variance.

Mr. Johnson is working up an agreement with the Marquand Park Foundation providing that on his death, or whenever he decides to act during his life-time, the building will become the property of the Foundation, to be used as a conservatory or some similar public use. Mr. Johnson will provide money to convert the structure to conservatory use, and $15,000 yearly to maintain it.

QUEENSTON IS FINED

For Alleged Damage. A $54,000 fine has been imposed against developers of Queenston Common by the state's Department of Environmental Protection.

State officials say they are levying the fine because Sandean Construction Company violated a 1970 permit and damaged Harry's Brook by dumping fill and rolling boulders into the stream.

According to William Baggitt, attorney for Queenston, the developer has one year after completion of a project to repair any damage. Mr. Baggitt has suggested that his client may go to court over the fine. He said it was an exaggerated amount.

Asked to comment on the amount of the fine, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley only whistled and said "Wow."

STUDENT FALLS TO DEATH

In Apparent Suicide. An 18-year-old Princeton University student who fell to his death from the 13th floor of Fine Hall Friday night has been called an apparent suicide by Township police.

Two students passing the 13-floor tower, the tallest structure in the Township, discovered the body of Samson D. Gruber of Brown Hall around 10:20. Ptl. Jerry Offredo, responding to a call from University Security police, felt for a pulse but found none. A few minutes later, the victim was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Willard Dalrymple, director of the university's Health Service.

Dr. Dalrymple attributed death to head and chest injuries. An autopsy was performed Saturday by Dr. David Fluck, Mercer County medical examiner. Det. Samuel Bianco said that it will be weeks before police receive a report indicating whether there were traces of any drugs or alcohol in the victim.

Police said there were no witnesses nor any notes left by the victim. He apparently fell from a 13th floor window in a conference room where a chair was found next to an open window. Det. Bianco said that police found several windows open on the floor.

Police described the junior mathematics major as "very bright, and intellectual," but a loner. Police report that two friends of the victim last year said that they got along but there was very little contact because he was so far ahead of them. An A student, Gruber had entered Princeton at 16, having graduated a year ahead of his class in high school.

STUDENTS ARE ASSAULTED

By Gangs on Campus. Two Princeton University students were assaulted last week in Prospect Gardens on the University campus.

Floyd R. Merill, 20, Old Schoolhouse Lane, Little Rocky Hill, was the only one of 14 youths that a university student identified as having attacked him shortly before 11 p.m. The victim did not require hospital aid, police said, but his 17-jewel wrist watch was taken by his assailants.

Merill, charged with assault and battery, was scheduled to appear in Borough court this Wednesday afternoon.

About the same time in the same area a second university student was attacked by a gang of 12 youths. The victim was hit about the face and had his nose bloodied but was not hospitalized, police said.

Det. Douglas Watson is continuing the investigation. Chief Michael Carnevale stated that Borough police have taken statements from witnesses and intend to conduct more interviews. "We expect to make additional arrests," he said.

Two More Arrests. Borough police also report arresting two others last week on bench warrants charging them with previous crimes. Both were released in $50 bail and were scheduled to appear in court this Wednesday.

Daniel McComas, 23, of Belle Mead, was arrested on Boudinot Street by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Thomas Michaud. Their warrant charged McComas with contempt of court concerning charges made against McComas in January charging him with assaulting a police officer, resisting arrest and being drunk and disorderly.

Douglas Griggs, 24, 216 Witherspoon Street, was arrested at police headquarters by Det. Michaud. The warrant against Griggs charged him with failing to appear to answer a previous charge of assault and battery.

POLITICS

Township. "What is the Township administration doing to see that we get a fair return for our substantial tax contribution to (Mercer) County?" asked the Township Republicans this week. Their candidates for Township Committee are Everett Garretson and incumbent Sanford Reynolds.

Their Democratic opponents are Mayor Jay Bleiman and Ellen Peterson. Mr. Garretson and Mayor Bleiman are contending for the three year seat on Committee, Mr. Reynolds and Mrs. Peterson for a one year term.

"Princeton Township contributes 9.8 percent or $2,378,-725 tax dollars to keep the county government functional. In return for this substantial contribution, just what have we received from the county government?", the candidates ask. "Remember the many problems with the Mosquito Commission?" "Or try a bone-jarring ride down a county road?" "Or, ever driven on a county road in Princeton Township shortly after a snow fall?".

"We all know that tax dollars are needed to keep all levels of government operational, but is it too much to ask that Princeton Township have a voice in how these dollars are allocated?", Mr. Garretson and Mr. Reynolds ask.

"We are not asking for preferential treatment from the county, only our fair share. And we must have responsible people at the head of our local government to see that we obtain what is rightfully ours."

Borough. Extension of bike paths into Phase II concerns Borough Republican Council candidates Robert Pols and Margaret Penick.

Their Democratic opponents are both incumbents on Council. They are Joseph Moore and Martin Lombardo. Two seats on Council are up for election.

"If elected we will work to have the second phase of the bike paths extended across Nassau Street where no routes exist to serve residents in that area," say Mr. Pols and Mrs. Penick. "Adult cyclists have asked us to work for a route to the train station, as well as better routes for commuting to the center of town," the candidates say.

They would consider a Bikeways Fund to which donors could make individual contributions assured that efforts would go only toward improvements in bikepaths.

The Republicans say low cost entertainment can be provided by additional picnic tables, grills and drinking fountains in park areas. Additional benches are needed, for mothers they say, in the toddlers' parks and older people in Community Park.

"By spending only a small amount of money, we can make life more enjoyable for many Princetonians," says Mr. Pols.

Pharmacy Footnotes

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm.

It was William Harvey in 1628 who discovered the circulation of the blood. Until then, beliefs about the blood had been confused, and medicine had done too much blood-letting. But it wasn't for three decades that the capillary system, which is part of the blood circulation system, was discovered, this time by an Italian physician Marcello Malpighi. Half a century later, however, blood-letting was still a common practice in many communities and led to many premature deaths.

Five feet, seven inches tall, weighing about 125 pounds, she has brown hair and brown eyes. When last seen, she was wearing a blue dungaree jacket, purple pants and tan desert boots. Anyone with helpful information about her is asked to call West Windsor police headquarters.

MAN, GIRL CHARGED

In Marijuana Arrests. A 20-year-old man and a 15-year-old Princeton girl were arrested by Borough police in separate incidents involving marijuana.

Peter Becker, 20, 32 Jefferson Road, was charged with possession of marijuana and being under the influence of the drug, following his arrest Monday night by Ptl. Ronald Holliday. Issued a complaint summons and released, Becker is scheduled to appear in court November 7.

He was observed by Ptl. Holliday, driving an unmarked patrol car, as he was walking through a parking lot off Hulfish Street. What drew the officer's attention, reported Chief Michael Carnevale, was the bright glow of Becker's cigarette. Marijuana joints, the chief explained, burn more brightly because they are not as tightly packed as regular cigarettes.

When Ptl. Holliday stopped the suspect, he threw the butt down, police said. It was recovered by the officer and sent to a police lab for analysis.

The girl was observed by University proctors allegedly smoking a marijuana cigarette as she sat on the wall near the Joseph Henry house at 8:30 Saturday morning.

She was turned over to Borough police, who also reported finding a plastic bag containing less than 25 grams of marijuana in her possession, plus cigarette papers.

After being processed by Det. Douglas Watson, the Borough juvenile officer, she was released to her father.

SIX ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough traffic court.

Five paid fines of $15: Kenneth Princiotta, 18, Cranbury, and Rae E. Hurley, 40, 35 Sycamore Lane, Skillman, both careless driving; William J. Arminger Jr., 17, 297 Prospect Avenue, driving on a permit without a licensed driver; Muriel Fath, 49, 18 Campbleton Circle, discharging passengers other than at the curb; and Nicholas Ryan, Brunswick Pike, overdue inspection.

Judith F. Lello, 31, 301 Emmons Drive, was fined $10 for leaving her car parked with its motor running.

DRIVER TICKETED

In Bayard Lane Accident. Anyone who has ever tried to turn left off Cleveland Lane onto Bayard Lane can sympathize with Robert W. Heil, 23, of Trenton.

Mr. Heil stopped Thursday morning, looked left and saw a slow-moving truck coming up the hill. He pulled out and collided with a car in the process of passing the truck on the outside lane.

The latter was operated by Betty L. Gwin, 21, Opossum Road, Skillman. She was taken by the First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center where she was treated for multiple contusions of the knee and jaw. Her car had to be towed away.

Mrs. Gwin told police that she saw the Heil car pull out, tried to stop but had no place to go. Mr. Heil was ticketed for failure to yield at an intersection.

Hits Parked Car. Mary G. Hitti, 77, 144 Prospect Avenue, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident Thursday after she allegedly struck a parked car on Vandeventer Avenue.

Mrs. Hitti told police that the rear of the car had jutted out into the roadway. She was treated at the Medical Center for contusions of the nose and lip.

The parked car is owned by Esperanza N Gomez of Magie Apartments. Ptl. David P Alston, who investigated, took a statement from a witness who heard the crash and told police he saw the Hitti car continue on across Nassau to Washington Road.

Safety Measures for Washington Road Studied

Specific steps to increase pedestrian safety along the Washington Road area which bisects the Princeton University campus are under study by municipal and county authorities following recommendations made to them this summer by a University-retained engineering firm.

The proposals, called "short term solutions" which can only be partially effective," seek installation of a traffic signal at the Prospect Avenue intersection, two large, blinking, vandalproof, over-the-road warning signs; post-mounted pedestrian crossing signs at each of five specially-marked crosswalks; a 100 percent increase in street light illumination; relocation of the sidewalk on the west side of the road from approximately Prospect Avenue to beyond Guyot Hall; and 40 small post-mounted signs urging pedestrians to use only the marked crosswalks.

Cost of implementing the proposal is estimated at $43,900, according to Travers Associates of Clifton, who made the study during the late spring.

John P. Moran, General Manager of Physical Planning and Facilities for the University, said today that the firm's recommendations were forwarded to Princeton Borough and Township and to Mercer County on August 8. The University paid $4,153 for the study, will make a $9,000 contribution to the Borough of Princeton for the Prospect Avenue light, and will, according to Mr. Moran, "pursue all the recommendations."

Engineers for Travers explained that long-range solutions — either rerouting traffic and closing Washington Road completely, or building pedestrian overpasses or underpasses — already have been recommended. "But in addition to being costly, these involve either major changes in area transportation facilities or significant alterations to the campus and its environment."

Suggestions are Stop-Gap. They termed their present proposals, which can be implemented quickly, "stopgap measures until a long-term course of action has been determined." But, added the Travers report, "nothing short of complete spatial separation of pedestrian and vehicular traffic flows can insure a fully effective means of interchanging the two."

Moran added that any underpasses or overpasses would require fencing along the road (which the engineers reject as "a treatment not in keeping with either environmental or operational concepts"), and would be difficult to lay out.

The Travers report is based in part, on pedestrian and traffic counts completed last March and April, on radar speed studies, and on a study of pedestrian accident history along the 3800 feet of two-lane Washington Road from just south of Nassau Street to Faculty Road.

Noting that only six pedestrian accidents were reported in the four years and nine months prior to March 1973 — three of which, the engineers claim, cannot be blamed on traffic volume — the Clifton firm contends, "When the Washington Road accident record is examined in light of existing pedestrian and vehicular activity, it must be termed a good record."

1200 Vehicles an Hour. The study this spring revealed that vehicular traffic volume was near "maximum practical capacity" — in excess of 1200 cars and trucks during peak hours — and pedestrian crossings (excluding the Nassau Street intersection which was not part of the study) ran as high as 1679 per hour. Speed checks, the report adds, indicate that while "occasional vehicles travel at unrealistically high speeds most speeds are well below acceptable levels."

"This is best done by a group of pedestrians who challenge drivers until one is intimidated into stopping, at which point the roadway can be crossed halfway. When a driver in the other direction is similarly intimidated, the crossing is completed. Obviously, a misjudgment on the part of either driver or pedestrian could have serious results."

Most of this occurs at the Woodrow Wilson School reflecting pool and at Prospect Avenue but student crossings are scattered along the entire roadway.

While citing several negative aspects of traffic signals, the report points out that there is one obvious positive aspect, namely the creation of gaps in the traffic stream, allowing pedestrians a chance to cross. "The Washington Road traffic volumes (now) are just too great to expect students to wait for a natural gap to occur."

Engineers noted that the Prospect Ave. — Washington Road traffic signal has already been approved by the N.J. Department of Transportation, and they urged that it be installed.

Based on pedestrian flow, the engineers recommended that well-marked crosswalks, using thermoplastic material, be established at William Street, th Woodrow Wilson reflecting pool, Prospect Avenue, Ivy Lane and at Fine Hall.

The area of Washington Road in question — a public street — lies partially in the Borough and partially in the Township (where it thus falls under the county's jurisdiction). The conflict between pedestrians and vehicles in that area has been a concern of both University and governmental agencies alike for at least 10 years.

TEN YEARS AGO THIS WEEK: Then Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi had been invited to speak at the University's Alexander Hall by the Whig-Clio Society. His appearance provoked a storm of protest from civil rights groups, who held a counter-rally in Dillon Gym, before marching to Alexander Hall. Fortunately, with state, Princeton and campus police standing by, the protest was peaceful, and no injuries or damage resulted.

News Of The THEATRES

McCARTER TO OPEN

With "Sea Gull." A new English version of Anton Chekhov's "The Sea Gull" will open the new drama series at McCarter this Thursday at 7:30.

Jean-Claude van Itallie, who was playwright-in-residence at Princeton University last spring, has made the new adaptation. The director is Lou Criss.

McCarter's cast consists of Irene Dailey as Madame Arkadina, Frank Converse as Trigorin; Cara Duff MacCormick as Nina; Karl Light as Dr. Dorn; Daniel Seltzer as Sorin; Dwight Schultz as Treplev; Alice Drummond as Pauline; I. M. Hobson as Medvedenko, Fern Sloan as Masha; Gene Gross as Shamraev and Ernie Norris as Yakov.

"The Sea Gull" was first produced in 1896 in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad. In its Princeton incarnation, it will open this Thursday and continue through October 14.

TWO-FOR-ONE

At Intime. Theatre Intime is currently rehearsing two one - act plays, "Adaptation" by Elaine May and "Next" by Terence McNally. They will open at Murray Theater Thursday, October 18, at 8:30 p.m. and will run October 18, 19, 20, 25, 26, and 27. For reservations and information call Theatre Intime at 452-8181.

These two plays were first presented in this country as a doublebill off-Broadway in '69. They were awarded Off-Broadway's Best Plays award that year. This was the first time that one-acters by different authors were both named Best Plays. After seeing the off-Broadway production, Clive Barnes of the New York Times said, "Elaine May's 'Adaptation' and Terence McNally's 'Next' are just plain marvelous-funny, provocative, and, in their way, touching."

"FROM FIGARO. . . To Funny Girl." Soprano Badiene Magaziner and baritone Robert Calvert will present "From Figaro to Funny Girl" at Mercer County Community College's theatre this Thursday at 8 in the theatre on the West Windsor campus. Admission is free.

The musical survey of the theatre, featuring highlights from opera, operetta and Broadway, will include excerpts from "Figaro", "Don Pasquale", "Don Giovanni" as well as "Porgy and Bess," "Carousel," "Funny Girl" and other popular musical presentations.

Miss Magaziner has performed roles in many operas and starred earlier this season as Norina in "Don Pasquale" at the Julliard School of Music in New York. She will go on tour this year with the Philadelphia Chamber Soloists. Calvert has been a soloist with the Orchestra di Lucca and at the Opera Barga Festival for the past few seasons.

WRITTEN A PLAY?

Send in Script. Street Theatre is starting up its annual Original Script Contest, and playwrights are warned to start thinking up plots right now. Deadline is April 26.

Length and subject matter is up to the writer, but the play will be given outdoors on the mobile stage, which might be well to keep in mind, Street Theatre suggests. Prize could be as much as $75. Last year, three plays were chosen and were performed in Princeton and West Windsor.

To enter the contest, send scripts to Street Theatre, care of Debbie Bellow, 36 Stanley Ave., Princeton.

WILDLIFE TOP BILLING

In Audubon Films. The Trenton Naturalist Club will host five nationally known conservationists and naturalists who will present their Audubon Wildlife Films at the Kirby Arts Center, Lawrenceville School.

The first speaker is John Bulger, who will screen his film, "Scandinavian Saga," Thursday at 8 p.m.

More than 50 species of animals appear in Mr. Bulger's film against a background of scenic beauty. Puffins, skuas, lemmings, lynx, storks and European bison are among the animals shown as the camera sweeps from Elsinore Castle to Tivoli Gardens to the rooftops of Copenhagen.

The remainder of the schedule: "The Land No One Wanted", Buzz Moss, November 14; "Sky Island, Arizona's Chiricahun Mountain Range," Robert Fultz, January 18; "Living Ocean," Doris Boyd, March 25; and "Florida's Cypress Country," Richard Kern, April 9.

For ticket information call Mrs. J Wilson Noden in Titusville, 737-1222. Proceeds are used for the club's conservation activities.

NEW SEASON TO OPEN

For Hansberry Arts Workshop. The Hansberry Arts Workshop, the theatre arm of the Princeton Youth Center, Inc., is entering its fourth season as the only community theatre company in Princeton solely dedicated to the works of Black playwrights.

In the past three seasons it has presented plays by Black playwrights past and present; known and not so well known. In keeping with that tradition, Hansberry is presently in rehearsal with Richard Wesley's "The Black Terror."

Richard Wesley is a contemporary Black playwright living in New York. The Black Terror is a play set in the near future which prophesizes a probable state of Black Americans if present oppressive conditions continue.

The cast consists of Andrea Coles, Kenneth McClain, Harry (Skip) Waters Jr., Connie Mack and Charley Phillips. Fred Tyler and Leonard Brown will make their stage debuts. Hansberry's production of The Black Terror is being directed by Terry Steaple.

Dates for the production are October 12, 13, 19, 20 and 21. Tickets are $2.50, $1.50 for students.

There is also a subscription of HAW events. For reservations and information contact ticket which covers a number Terry Steaple at the Youth Center, 924-0996 or 924-0508.

SHAKESPEARE AUDITIONS

For Intime Production. "Measure for Measure," produced rarely in American theatres, will be given by Theatre Intime in a late-November production, and auditions have been scheduled for next week.

Those who want to try out should plan to attend Murray Theatre either Sunday, Monday or Tuesday, October 7, 8 and 9, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Live and Let Die. James Bond is back, this time with a new face, Roger Moore, taking over for Sean Connery. Moore is a somewhat more debonair Bond, lacking some of the raw brawniness of Connery but an altogether satisfying replacement.

And of course all the old thrills, chases and evils in the old Bond pictures are back. In this one, 007 is up against voodoo, Tarot cards and black heroin traffickers. The main escape and pursuit scene is a motorboat chase through the bayous of Louisiana and is played half seriously and half for comic effect. It's quite funny though the comedy cuts into the suspense a bit too sharply.

Other highspots include a grisly encounter with hungry crocodiles, an attempted escape by airplane, a couple of voodoo ceremonies on a Caribbean island and an assassination scheme in New Orleans where the victim gets to attend his own funeral.

The film has enough professional thrills to make it the equal of any other Bond movie. It's good to have double-O seven back.

GARDEN (Double Feature)

Butterflies Are Free. Goldie Hawn, Eileen Heckart and Edward Albert give fine performances in this adaption of the Broadway comedy.

The film version is a charming rather steady look at youthful expressionism. There is more depth to it than to most of the recent screen comedies.

The story concerns the attempt of a young singer-composer to escape his mother and try for success on his own. The boy is blind. A very free kiwi bird of a girl from next door to his San Francisco apartment comes breezing into his life. The film bats their relationship back and forth, inserting his uninten tionally domineering mother, and when it is all over, all three have learned something.

Goldie Hawn is delightful as the girl who would treasure a quote about liberated butterflies but never know or care who said it. Albert's performance matches hers; and Miss Heckart comes on strong.

Forty Carats is definitely not one of those "if you liked the play, you'll love the movie."

This disappointing film version of the Broadway play, LaLLs somewhere between farce and human comedy and thus falls rather resoundingly, as it attempts to deal with an affair between a 40-year-old woman who is well into spinsterhood or motherhood and her 20-year-old lover who is not quite into maturity.

Complicating matters are several other side events. The woman's daughter is having an affair with the mother's current and middle-aged boy friend; her ex-husband will settle for just about any age in the opposite sex, and the boy's mother has a 20-year-old lover of her own. By the way, it may sound X-rated, but this film has managed to corral a PG rating.

All of this puts a pretty hard burden on the actors, a burden that is somewhat intensified by the casting of Liv Ullmann in what amounts to her first really lengthy English language role. Miss Ullmann's accent and lack of comic delivery and pacing are very uneven. As her lover, Edward Albert has a better time with the script.

IT'S NEW To Us

GENESIS OPENS

Featuring American Crafts. Throughout the country, there are many fine craftsmen unable to support themselves by their work because of limited sales. To alleviate this problem, crafts fairs which create a wholesale market have become a common sight during the summer months.

The largest of these, run by the American Crafts Council, takes place in Reinbeck, N.Y., each June. Although the public is welcomed, the first two days are exclusively for wholesalers from Macy's down to smaller shops, like Genesis of Lawrenceville.

Genesis, which opened September 15, is owned by Carol Plesser and Jeri Yeager, two former ETS employees who decided to go out on their own. Having been fans of American crafts for a long time, they decided to open a shop specializing in fine original works by American craftsmen.

All summer they have visited these fairs, meeting the people, and selecting many lovely and unusual crafts. Most everything in the store is on consignment, and anything can be custom - ordered if you want a different size, color, etc.

Candles. Landscape candles by Ivan which have clouds, sun, or other designs on them are made of a superdense wax so that the initial form will not be disturbed when the candle is burned. Instead a hole will be made in the center, into which a smaller candle can be placed. These candles are individually designed and hand - crafted, and cost from $5 to $14

AMERICAN CRAFTS: The owners of Genesis, Carol Plesser and Jeri Yeager, display two handpuppets, one of the American crafts they have selected for their new store at 48 Phillips Avenue, Lawrenceville.

Pottery is also represented, and the shop even has some porcelain which because of the difficulty is not usually made by individuals. In white porcelain, we saw some small planters, cups, and pitchers, $12. Then in pottery, there were a lemon-squeezer, $10, and an elephant bank, complete with its own cork so it can be opened, $16.50.

The shop tries to carry the unusual whenever possible. For instance, among the macrame, there is a mobile made from several msaller pieces, $15, and, delicate plant hangers made of a nylan thread so it won't discolor or rot from the water, $10 including a plant and glass.

Many plants also fill the store. Carol and Jeri have taken many cuttings, and have filled all the planters because they feel it makes them more attractive to their customers.

Some of the most fascinating things to us were painted butterflies made from wooden slats which are beautiful on a wall or hanging from the ceiling, $15; steel and brass bells that ring as the wind blows and reminded us of mobiles, $11 and up; and pillows called anthropological presence which are inspired by ancient and primitive pottery and are more sculptural than purely decorative, $35-$50

There are many other crafts, too numerous to elaborate, such as toys, shoulder bags, quilts, pillows, watercolors by Biff Heins, jewelry, and custom furniture by New World Design.

Genesis is at 48 Phillips Avenue, Lawrenceville, and it is open from 10 to 6 Monday thru Saturday, and Friday evenings until 9.

SOFT ALPACA RUGS

At Home Decor. A few years ago it became very difficult for some stores to find alpaca rugs, so when Mr Shamyer went on a trip to Peru this year, he decided to do some importing of his own for Home Decor.

These wonderfully soft rugs have arrived, and although the designs do vary, in general there is a white lama on a black center, surrounded by a white, tan, brown and black border, $200. Mr. Shamyer also imported a wool blanket with an overall tiger design In addition to being used on a bed, it would make a great throw blanket for TV watching, twin size $40

We saw pillows in many sizes, right on up to large floor ones that are perfect for the extra seats people so often need They come in an Indian design or a patchwork of paisley and flower prints, $25, and in a solid plush with tassels at the corners, $12.98.

Then there are some Princeton pillows — an orange and black football, $2.98, or an imitation tiger skin square, $4.98. Also for the avid fan, Home Decor has a tiger skin toilet seat, or one with the emblem of almost any college, $15.

New Quilts for Winter. With winter coming on, the quilts are ready, and we saw solids, a gay multi-colored garden print backed in a bright green, and even one covered with cat's faces, $22.98 and up.

Then for the kids, we saw quilts that zip up to become sleeping bags for overnights or slumber parties. There are calicos, flower prints, and a sports design that features football, basketball or hockey, $17.98-$25.98. This sports design, including baseball, is also available in curtains, bedspreads and blankets for the complete bedroom.

There are several other co-

OLD ORDER GIVES WAY AT TOTO'S MARKET: Most of Toto's Market, 74 Witherspoon Street, starting its 62nd year, looks just as it always did with its shelves of jars and canned goods all right. But in the rear, the old has yielded to change. A new refrigerator case has been installed for fresh fruits and vegetables. Also a 15-foot upright freezer for ice cream (Breyers), frozen cakes (Sara Lee), frozen foods (Stouffer's), and cheese and dairy products. "We wanted to keep the store completely old," commented Albert Toto Jr., "but we had to do it for the convenience of our customers. The orders get out a lot faster now, too." Store still specializes in choice Swift's meat, and customers should give three hours advance notice for custom cuts, Mr. Toto said.

ornamented patterns such as Just Flowers by Martex which has a blue dot and delicate flower print on a white back ground. This pretty pattern comes in towels, sheets, bedspread, quilt and blanket, $2.98 for the bath towel and $30 for a twin-sized blanket.

Other suggestions from Home Decor are an electric blanket by Bates which has a five year guarantee, $30 and up; a Loofah bath mit that is fiber to stimulate the skin as made from natural vegetable well as clean it, $2.50; and permanent press eyelet ruffled curtains.

Until October 13, there is a 20 per cent off sale on custom window shades, drapes and woven wooden blinds. There are many samples, all of which you can take home to test the colors and textures.

NEW STORE OPENS

In Shopping Center. After many years at the Princeton Shopping Center, Larry Huntress decided to retire and sold his business, Happy House. Closed over the summer for redecorating, the new store, part of a small chain called International Arrivals, opened its doors September 20.

The assistant general manager, Sid Wolverton, told us that while they plan to expand the gift line, they will continue to have many of the fine brands previously at Happy House.

These include Le Cresuet, Sabatier and Gerber knives, Salton products, Kitchen Chemistry glass cannisters, Denby Stoneware, Gense stainless, Steff pewter and the bright-colored Margrethe plastic bowls and utensils.

International Arrivals does some of its own importing, and this new influence was quickly noticed as we entered the spacious store. From Italy there are Florentine trays, $5.50 for the small size, leather covered decanters, $8 and up; alabaster bookends shaped like three small books, $12.50, and old world globes, $12.50 to $27.50.

From Sweden there will be glassware, and the Georg Jensen line. Currently by Georg Jensen, there is a "flower pot", a series of tall narrow tubes fused together, which can be used as a frog or alone as a vase — for optical effects, Georg Jensen suggests filling the tubes at different heights, $5 and $7.50.

International Arrivals also has gift items that are not imported, such as the Georgetown Collection of brass. We admired a large revere bowl, $16; a hurricane lamp with its own handle, $24; and a door knocker that can be engraved with your name, $12.95.

There is a large selection of wine racks including an unfinished one, a teak one for six bottles, a wrought iron one for five, and a large wooden rectangle that can accommodate 12 of your favorite wines, $7 and up.

The wine racks are representative of the store's interest in gifts for men. We also saw a wooden pipe holder with an old world globe in the center, $39; a bristle hairbrush made in Western Germany, $4.50; a solid brass chess set, $90; and a stone and leather backgammon set, $70.

The store also is continuing to carry candles, cards and party goods, and there is now a full line of Hallmark products including writing paper and small gift books. As this is October, why not a Halloween party? There is everything you could want – from napkins and cups to hats and cards to bridge tallies and cookie cutters.

International Arrivals will be open from 10 to 5:30 Monday thru Saturday and Thursday and Friday evenings until 9.

OTHER PAPERS will run your classifieds for half price or for nothing if they do not sell in TOWN TOPICS, you'll find more ads and better results.

PRINCE

Heavy Traffic is a 76-minute, X - rated successor to "Fritz the Cat." It is also a vulgar, raunchy, often compelling animated cartoon depicting in only slightly exaggerated style the heavy grit of slum life.

It's casualness of sex, bloodletting and overall fatalistic approach to life will offend a lot of people. Examples: a teenage girl is putting out laundry on a tenement roof; in the excitement of luring the locals on, she acceidentally falls off the roof and is killed. A burly construction worker discovers his pickup is actually a transvestite; a thug angered over payoffs he has to make to the cops, tosses a stick of dynamite at a patrol car. It bounces off and blows up a helpless old derelict instead. Ghetto life, man.

Okay. So you stay away. But if you've ever walked down a side street in a big city and tried to avoid the smells, if you've ever sat on a subway after midnight, if you've ever waded through garbage, then you know something of what the film accepts as life. The emphasis is rightly (or wrongly, depending on one's view) upon things that "civilized" people do not care to emphasize, things that deodorants, underpants and toilet paper were invented to hide.

With its fine grotesque caricature and convincing depiction of uncaring society's slum dregs, "Heavy Traffic" may be heavy going but it is trafficking in authentic goods.

HOUSE RANSACKED

On Princeton Kingston Rd. ...se on the Princeton Kingston Road was entered by breaking through an inside rear door and ransacked.

...view, the police report that a color television set was taken and a sofa was slashed. The ... was reported by a friend who was checking the house ... the owners were away.

Police said they did not know what else may have been taken, pending return of the owners. Sgt. Robert Fleacock is investigating.

Mini Bike Stolen. A $70 mini bike and a fishing reel valued at $31 were stolen Monday from an unlocked garage at 11 Henderson Avenue.

Owner Kenneth J. Arnott reported the theft at 7:15 p.m. Det. Anthony Pinelli investigated.

Det. Pinelli also investigated the theft of a pocketbook Monday afternoon from Elizabeth A. Germond, a teacher at Community Park School. The pocketbook was located later a short distance from the school, minus two sets of keys. Police report that it contained no money.

Heavy Pump Taken. A pump valued at $195 was stolen last week from a field some 500 yards from Province Line and Cherry Valley Roads where it was being used to pump water to sheep.

Police identified the owner as Edward W. Jones, 81 Westcott Road, who they said owns land at the site. They added the pump was heavy and bulky and probably required two men to move it. Ptl. William Potts investigated.

Princeton Printing Company, 176 Alexander Street, was entered between 9:10 Monday evening and 6:45 Tuesday morning by intruders who tried — unsuccessfully — to pry open several vending machines.

Ptl. Robert Nielsen, who investigated, reported that entry was gained by forcing a rear door.

DECISION DELAYED

In Conversion Application. The Borough Zoning Board last week decided to carry over until its October meeting its decision in the application of William Bunting to convert a three story building he owns at 16 Vandeventer Avenue into joint occupancy.

The Board's meeting in October will be on the 18th, one week earlier than its regularly scheduled fourth Thursday.

There is a question whether the primary use as presented — a two family dwelling with four roomers on the second and an apartment on the third floor — is correct. "Our records don't reflect this," commented a member of the zoning board. The board has asked Mr. Bunting to produce an affidavit showing he has the occupancy he wants.

Mr. Bunting plans to convert the first floor where there is an apartment now into office use. The building is located in a residential - office zone and he needs a conditional use authorization — provided he can provide seven off street parking spaces.

Mr. Bunting can provide four on the side of the property off Vandeventer and three by entering Lincoln Court from the rear of the lot. His application was opposed by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sabal, 14½ Vandeventer, who were represented by attorney Theodore Vreeland. They maintain Lincoln Court is overcrowded now and there is insufficient room for any more cars.

Mr. Bunting, an attorney, represented himself in his application.

Resource Center Created for Regional Schools

"Each resource person will be to a teacher what a teacher is to a pupil."

That's the idea underlying the new Resource Center of the Princeton Regional Schools. The Center is in the former Valley Road library, linked to an arts center and a media center elsewhere in the building.

The resource people, appointed from the schools' staff, will be up to date on new materials and concepts. They will keep informed on resources available in the town and in the school district itself — who and what can help, in this particular situation?

They will help teachers help each other. If a Johnson Park teacher has a problem, here's a Community Park teacher with a similar problem, and a possible answer.

They will, everybody hopes, help teachers ask themselves the right questions, like "Why am I doing what I'm doing?" or "What do I expect from this particular action?"

The Center was one of the recommendations of the citizens' long range planning committee. Plans for it began to take form after the schools' curriculum co-ordinator (Dorothea Lummis) left the system last year, it was decided after considerable thought, to abandon the concept of a single curriculum person and draw instead on the expertise of many teachers.

Under the new set-up, teaching resources and the co-ordination of curriculum, are tied together for the first time. Overseeing the Center is Dr. Constance Vieland, whose title used to be co-ordinator of staff development. She is now directing the new Staff Services Group, which is also dedicated to staff development.

". . . but no member of the Resource Center will mandate curriculum," Dr. Vieland emphasizes. "Their job is to help teachers make decisions on what to introduce into the classroom. You could say that each resource person is to a teacher, what a teacher is to a student."

"All teachers want some help," she observes. "Teaching is an art and a difficult one. If you've found the right way, if you have the skill, you can be increasingly helpful to others on the staff."

She expects the Resource Center to be chiefly used by elementary - school teachers because it will have a lot of the manipulative materials kids in the early grades handle as learning tools.

At the moment, the former Valley Road library is a bare room. Dr. Vieland expects teachers themselves to create it — bringing in materials which can help other teachers, using the space for whatever workshops seem advisable from time to time.

The teachers who are resource people will meet about three times a year on curriculum, programs or problems, with the system's four elementary - school principals, and with middle and high school principals.

"We will talk about everything," Dr. Vieland explains, "so we can learn what the principal things we ought to be doing."

Full time members of the resource team — Charlotte Danielson in math/science, Ruth Randall in social studies /language, Ken Bowers in media 'audio-visual, Rosemary Blair in art, and Jean McDonough in library — have been appointed to help teachers not necessarily trained in these specialized fields. For example, a teacher at the elementary-school level is not necessarily a specialist in teaching science.

Part-time members of the resource group are William Alston of the high school biology department; Raymond Hunt, language teacher; Rosellunt, language teachre; Marion Middlebrook, music, and a physical education member to be chosen later.

Use of Picture Unauthorized.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing concerning the advertisement of the United Fund Red Cross Campaign which appeared in your paper in the September 27 1973 issue on page 23.

I am very upset and still unsatisfied even though I have spoken with some involved parties. I will continue to hold it against the Red Cross and United Fund Campaign until something is done about what I feel is a misleading, embarrassing and unapproved (in my part) advertisement.

The picture of me being transfused was taken at my request and exclusively for promotion of and the introduction of the Sickle Cell Counseling Service to the community.

I have struggled in Princeton for 20 years trying to tell people what a dreadful disease Sickle Cell Anemia is and I, like many others am suffering from this disease and most of them just said there is no such thing called "Sickle Cell" — Nellie has leukemia, and tell it as that. And I have founded and organized the International Sickle Cell Anemia Counseling Services (one of a kind) and we need support which we haven't yet (no assistance in any form) from The Red Cross or United Fund.

I refuse to be used anymore, by anyone. We (my family) requested blood a few years ago from the American Red Cross for my brother who later died from Sickle Cell, and the Red Cross turned us down so we had to continue to ask friends and neighbors. This I will never forget.

We are having a meeting concerning this situation and when something is agreed upon we will let you know because since you paper ran this we expect your paper to clear up the matter by publishing the results and agreement of parties involved so the public and especially the members of the International Sickle Cell Anemia Counseling Services will know where we stand. Because all of them (our members) have pledged not to contribute to any fund, community or jobwise that does not include SCACS (Sickle Cell Anemia Counseling Services.)

Aid for Crosstown 62.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

We of the Princeton Joint Commission on Aging wish to thank you for your fine coverage of Crosstown 62, transportation for Princeton Senior Citizens.

May we stress that we and the Crosstown Committee Members from the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross are aware of its limitations. We have formed a project which is aimed at solving the most pressing transportation requirements of older Princetonians. Criticism is valuable, for we must all remember that this is a Pilot Project.

The Evaluation Procedure for Crosstown 62 is lengthy and detailed; and it is every bit as important as the vehicle in determining the future of Senior Transportation in Princeton. We have limited funds and limited time in which to discover the areas of greatest need.

We would like to thank Councilman Robert Powell publicly for his interest in the entire transportation challenge. He brought to the Commission a well thought proposal to solve Senior transportation problems.

Circumstances dictated that the current program is more feasible now. When this became apparent, Councilman Powell was most energetic in pursuit of approval of this project. It is a rare man who can work for the total good, even at the sacrifice of his own efforts.

Those members of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross who helped bring Crosstown 62 into being have been co-operative, creative and persistent. Our gratitude for their concern and their experience is boundless.

The Commission would also like to thank Barbara Waaben publicly for her gift of the Gentle Exercise and Swim Program for Senior Citizens, for the Recreation Board. Despite mild weather-swings and the usual transportation limitations, she had a loyal group of participants. Praise abounds, and we applaud.

The Commission on Aging announces that its October 10th meeting will be a public hearing, in which all suggestions from Princetonians on how to better the lives of our Seniors are welcomed. The Wednesday meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. in the Council Room of Borough Hall.

Secretary — Princeton Joint Commission on Aging

join The Princeton Medical Center's annual fund campaign. Letters to 22,000 households followed receipt of more than $120,000 in special gifts and contributions from area business and industry since The Center's campaign for $400,000 opened in July.

Of the $400,000, according to Campaign Chairman William L. Wilson, $250,000 will be invested in new equipment for The Center's hospital and rehabilitation units. The remaining $150,000 will be applied against The Center's financial commitment for past expansion programs.

Mr. Wilson's letter, together with a brochure outlining the financial program, was mailed to residents living in municipalities located in The Center's primary service: Plainsboro Junction, Cranbury, Kendall Park, Pennington, Plainsboro, Rocky Hill, Skillman, Dayton, Franklin Park, Belle Mead, Blawenburg, Allentown, East, North and New Brunswick, Hopewell, Kingston, Lawrenceville, Monmouth Junction, Jamesburg, Windsor and Trenton, as well as Princeton Borough and Township.

TRIP IS PLANNED

For Retired Persons. The retired persons of Princeton and vicinity (AARP), Red Cross, Friday Club, etc.,) are preparing for a fall foliage and historical and cultural bus tour to Lake George in the Adirondacks.

The group will leave Friday October 12, from the YMCA and return to Princeton by 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14. Two nights will be spent at Silver Bay the YMCA conference, vacation, and recreation hotel, right on Lake George. Points of interest to be visited en route include West Point and Hyde Park.

The cost including transportation, lodging and all meals is $48. Seats are still available on the second bus. For information call YMCA 924-4825 or Reeves Bland 799-1082.

IDA, AGAIN

To Build In Township. The Institute for Defense Analyses, embattled government service organization once the object of student demonstration and facully protest, plans to start construction before Christmas on its new Terhune Road building.

So far, the Institute doesn't have the required state permission to hook into Princeton's sewer system, currently under a state moratorium. IDA's lease with Princeton University expires July 31, 1975 and the organization hopes to be in its two-story building spring of that year.

POLITICIANS SKIRMISH

In West Windsor. Republicans have announced they won't participate in any more debates with Democrats in West Windsor. Two debates, to be held in private homes, were originally scheduled. Only one Republican—Sollen Finsley—showed up at the first. Incumbent Chad s Holman stayed away.

The second debate, scheduled for this Sunday, has been cancelled. The two Democrats, William E. Stuart and Peter J. Flatow, charge the Republicans are "afraid to face the voters in public" on sewers, rest of a municipal center and master plan revisions.

Miles Redman, Republican campaign chairman, said he had cancelled Sunday's confirmation because Mr. Flatow had been rude to a woman in the audience at the first debate.

3 Princeton Authors Produce 3 Varied Books

Q. Apart from the fact that each lives in Princeton, what do Ernest Gordon Walter Teller and Alvin Schwartz have in common?

A. Nothing, except they each have new books on the market.

Q. What do their new books — Dean Gordon's "Salan," Mr Teller's "Walt Whitman's Camden Conversations" and Mr Schwartz's "Witcracks" — have in common?

A. Nothing, absolutely nothing.

The nearly simultaneous arrival of these three books proves, if nothing else, that Princeton really is a diverse little town.

Mr Gordon of 17 Ivy Lane, Dean of the Princeton University Chapel, has written a novel based partly on his experiences as a personal counsellor. The setting is drawn from his days as a fisherman and sailor in his native Scotland. The central character, a successful businessman who finds success and money but still grapples for a satisfactory relationship with church and God.

Mr Teller, who resides at 200 Prospect Avenue, has selected, arranged and written an introduction for a mass of informal interviews conducted with Walt Whitman in Camden, in the poet's last years. A graduate of Haverford College and Columbia University, Mr. Teller is the author of six books and has written essays for the New York Times Book Review, the American Scholar and other journals.

Alvin Schwartz, 50 Southern Way, has collected hundreds of tall tales, one-liners, shaggy dog stories and puns for "Witcracks: Jokes and Jests from American Folklore." A teacher at Rutgers, he has also written on subjects from crafts to labor unions.

Sail for Freedom. Dean Gordon's novel addresses the problem of man's alienation from the hum-drum world of modern business. Iain Macmillan finds himself at the beginning of the novel with an unexpected promotion, in company president.

The board of directors make only one demand of him: that he take a six months' sabbatical aboard his newly acquired yawl, the Solan No. Macmillan has no emotional ties-ups. He has been on the steady course of success ever since he graduated from Princeton with the Pyne Prize and a Rhodes Scholarship on his record. The directors just want him to recharge his batteries.

The recharging process puts a little too much spark in their boy, however. On his voyage to an alluring Scottish island, Macmillan begins to re-examine himself. Could God be real?, Iain asks, even though he couldn't find Him in that church he belonged to in East Hampton.

In the islands Iain finds his spiritual homeland. He becomes involved in what appears in the distant board of directors to be a radical freedom organization. Bad PR. The board reconsiders its decision about his presidency. Macmillan ponders whether he wants the job at all — and the outcome of the novel hangs in the balance.

Talking Whitman. Mr Teller has arranged these fragments of Walt Whitman's speech into more than 50 categories. Although they are just fragments, recorded from 1888 until the poet's death in 1892 by a young Camden journalist, Mr Teller has arranged them in such a manner that they add up to something greater than the sum of the parts.

Whitman on sickness: "The worst of sickness is its bad humour, its peevishness, its crossness, its irritability." (September 4, 1888); "It is hard for a perfectly well man to thoroughly understand a perfectly sick man, or vice versa." (August 31, 1888); "When you argue about health your health is already gone." (August 24, 18881.

Whitman on writing. "I am very notionate, particular, about quotations: I never lug them in: if they don't come naturally by their place — fit to the last angle — then I reject them." (May 29 1889); "The best writing has no lace on its sleeves." (June 23, 1888)

"I have had people say to me 'Walt, you write as if it was no effort whatsoever for you to do so.' That may be how it looks but that's not how it is."

Witcracks. Mr Schwartz groups his favorite gags into categories. Among them: outlandish lies — "It is so muddy they have to jack up the cows to milk them"; word puzzles — "What did the baby porcupine say when it backed into the cactus? Is that you, Mother?"; numbskull tales — "This woman's son was away in the army and he wrote her that he had grown another foot. And she knitted him another sock."

The author, whose book is illustrated by Glen Rounds, also chronicles ethnic jokes and cruel humor jokes. These are the jokes we publicly dislike, but tell most often, he says.

Also the author of "A Twister of Twists, A Tangler of Tongues," and "Tomfoolery, Trickery and Fooler with Words." Mr. Schwartz is somewhat of an expert on the art of laughing.

His technique comes from Josh Billings. "When you laugh . . . open your mouth wide enough for the noise to get out without squealing, throw your head back as though you was going to get shaved, hold on to your false hair with both hands and then laugh until your soul gets thoroughly rested."

Clean-up! Borough, Yes; Township Waits

Clean-up week will start in the Borough Monday, continuing through the week and ending Friday.

In the Township, Clean-up week won't begin until Monday, October 15. The reason is that brush collection is continuing at a brisk pace and the engineer's office doesn't have the manpower to do both.

All Borough residents should put out material on their regular garbage collection days. All material should be:

(a) of a size and weight that one many can lift.
(b) tied in bundles, bagged, wrapped etc.
(c) brush must be cut in lengths of less than 3 ft. and bundled.

SPECIAL NOTE: Brush is only collected during clean up week, as are leaves in plastic bags. The regular leaf collection program will begin in late October or early November.

Democrats for Township Committee

Ellen Mary Cynthia Neil Peterson

ELLEN PETERSON, currently a consultant on special projects for Rutgers University, has already had a remarkably varied career in federal, state and local government. A graduate of Pennsylvania State University and Harvard Law School, she has served as a staff attorney for the U.S. Office of Civil Rights, as director of state legal services in the N.J. Department of Community Affairs and as a legal advisor to Governor Hughes. Before joining Rutgers as counsel in 1972, she worked as project director of a major study commissioned by the N.J. Courts. Ellen, now serving as chairman of the Township Board of Health, wants broader involvement in government at the local level. 'Princeton has difficult decisions to make in the next few years. I seek the opportunity to affect the quality of those decisions."

New Man at Society

The Historical Society of Princeton has a new, full-time director to oversee operations at Bainbridge House. He is Paul DuVivier, young graduate of Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., who is a candidate for the Master of Arts degree in the graduate program of the New York State Historical Association at Cooperstown.

For his first exhibit, he is working with exhibit chairman, Mrs. Dudley Johnson, in a show of miniatures called "Small Things in Small Places." Handcrafted reproductions by Redmond Marrow of Princeton, the entire contents of a French doll house from 1860, a furnished Victorian doll-house, a child's mahogany slant-top desk (see photo) and a corner chair belonging to Grover Cleveland's children are included in the show.

Topics Of The Town

WHITHER, GARBAGE?

County Has Plan. Princeton Borough could save $34,000 and the Township $9,000 under the Mercer County Improvement Authority garbage plan, shown on Saturday to the county's mayors.

The plan calls for a contract between the county and the Landfill and Development Company of Mt. Holly. Towns could sign up for either garbage collection and disposal in the Mt. Holly landfill, or both. The discrepancy between Township and Borough figures is due to the Township's collection system: many home-owners, depending on where they live, use private garbage - collecting companies.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, after seeing the county's figures, estimated only $15,000 to $18,000 saving on disposal, less on collection.

Through Princeton's Sewer Operating Committee, both mayors will meet with the Mercer County Improvement Authority to discuss costs. Plans call for L. & D. to buy municipal equipment and put workers on its payroll.

The first agreement would be for three years. After that first contract, towns would sign one-year agreements for seven years. By the time the decade is over, the county hopes to have a sophisticated plan that not only gets rid of waste, but produces energy as a by-product.

TO PLAN BUDGET

For Aging. A planning hearing for the budget of the Joint Commission on Aging will be held next Wednesday, October 10, at 1:30 in Borough Hall. Those who cannot attend are invited to send suggestions on programs for the Commission to Borough Hall.

This is the first public budget hearing held by the Commission. After the meeting, the Commission will develop its '74 budget.

ANGELA DAVIS COMING

To Speak at University. A day-long conference on the problems of women in prison — at which Angela Davis will be the special guest speaker — will be held Sunday, at Princeton University.

Co-sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and a number of outside groups, the conference, with an optional registration fee of $4.00 begins at 8 a.m. A series of panel discussions will be held in the morning, followed by workshops in the afternoon.

Among the panelists are John Boone, former Commissioner of Corrections in Massachusetts; Rev. Ben Chavis, Commission for Racial Justice of the United Church of Christ; and Gary Hilton, Superintendent of the Clinton (N.J.) Reformatory for Women.

The conference will conclude Sunday evening, with an address at 7 p.m. in Alexander Hall by Miss Davis. All of the conference sessions will be open to the public.

NEW DIRECTOR, NEW EXHIBIT: Paul DuVivier, new director of the Princeton Historical Society, with Mrs. Dudley Johnson, choiron of a new exhibit of "Small Things in Small Places," and one extremely small visitor, Dorian Bolcom. The exhibit, to open next Tuesday in Boinbridge House, will show dollhouse miniature furniture and children's furniture, some of which is shown here.

BLEIMAN—PETERSON

Democrats for Township Committee

Yvonne, Rebecca and Jay Bleiman

JAY BLEIMAN, who has served Princeton Township as Committeeman and Police Commissioner for the past three years, is completing his first year as Mayor. It has been a busy and productive year, marked by significant improvements in budgetary procedures; outstanding nonpartisan appointments to boards and commissions; the addition of young, highly competent professionals to the Township administrative staff; the beginning of a promising new bikeway system; the creation of joint commissions with the Borough on consolidation and cable television; and a host of other, perhaps less visible but no less solid accomplishments. Jay, a retired Army Lt. Col. and currently a faculty member at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, looks forward to his re-election as "an opportunity to continue to improve the machinery of the Committee system to give the citizens of the Township the kind of open, responsive, and efficient local government they deserve."

MUSIC
In Princeton

38TH SEASON TO OPEN

For Musical Amateurs. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will open its 38th season on Sunday, October 14, with a meeting held at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road, at 5 p.m.

Leon DuBois of the Rutgers Music Department will conduct the Brahms "Requiem," with chorus, full orchestra, and soloists — namely Susan Robinson, soprano and Paul Brown, baritone.

The Musical Amateurs are a unique Princeton institution. Singers and orchestral players from as far away as Philadelphia and northern New Jersey, but mainly from the Princeton area, gather together once a month on a Sunday afternoon from October thru May to read through for their own pleasure one or more of the great works in choral literature.

These meetings are in no sense performances; they are informal readings in which any musically interested person may participate. There are no preliminary rehearsals, except for the conductor and soloists, and the music is generally sung in its entirety with full scoring.

Participants range from those with modest sight reading ability to singers and instrumentalists of professional caliber. All parts of the community are represented — townspeople, undergraduates, professors, commuters, high school students, housewives — in the common and joyful enterprise of making music together.

The chorus ranges in size from 75 to 150 members on any given Sunday, and the orchestra from 20 to 35 in number. No auditions are required to sing in the chorus, although anyone interested in singing solo parts, unless known to one of the conductors, should get in touch with Mrs. Michael Ramus, at 924-4266. Instrumentalists are asked to contact Robert Lohman, 921-6757, for information about playing in the orchestra.

In addition to the above, the conductors for the 1973-1974 season will include Professor J. Merrill Knapp of the Princeton University Music Department; James Litton, organist and choir master of Trinity Church; David Agler, choir master of All Saints' Church; and Clyde Tipton, director of Vocal Music at Rider College. The schedule for the other meetings is as follows: November 11 - Handel "Queen Caroline Anthem," December 9 - Bach "Christmas Oratorio," January 13 - Cherubini "Requiem," February 10 - Haydn "Nelson Mass," March 10 - Mendelsohn "Elijah," April 21 - R. Thompson "The Peaceable Kingdom," & May 12 - Bach "St. John Passion." The December, January, and February meetings will be held in All Saints' Church Van Dyke Road, and all others at the Unitarian Church Sundays at 5 p.m.

The Musical Amateurs have a regular membership dues or a single admission charge at the door to defray the cost of the hall, the music and refreshments served at intermission time. Anyone wishing to attend should call Mrs. M. B. Gottlieb (921-7214), or check with her at the door the afternoon of the meetings. There is no admission fee for those who come only to listen.

TENTH SEASON TO START

For Community Orchestra. The Princeton Community Orchestra, founded in 1964 by a small group of talented amateur musicians from the Princeton area, will begin its tenth season this Thursday. Meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month from October through May at 8 p.m. in the rehearsal room of Princeton High School (Houghton Road side).

This unique group is a "reading" orchestra that provides the opportunity for its members to participate in a symphonic ensemble and to become acquainted with much of the symphonic literature without the demands for the technical perfection required for concert performances. The membership of over 50 instrumentalists is drawn from Princeton and the surrounding area and comprises men and women from all walks of life, from high school age upward.

Included are many housewives, businessmen, scientists, educators, technicians and artists, as well as professional musicians. While the Princeton Community Orchestra has on several past occasions performed at the invitation of the Music Club of Princeton, it does not present formal concerts as such.

The orchestra also serves as the focal point from which many other musical activities such as quartets emanate. The instrumentalists who play for the monthly meetings of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs are drawn mainly from the Community Orchestra, and the members of the Collegium Musicum of Princeton are all members or alumni of the orchestra.

Joseph Kovacs, concert violinist and members of the faculties of Douglass College, Princeton Day School and Westminster Choir College, will continue as conductor. Mr. Kovacs is also director and soloist of the Collegium Musicum.

Interested instrumentalists are invited to come to the meeting on Thursday. There are openings in all string categories and in the brass (horn and trombone) section. Other wind players will be considered as alternates or substitutes.

For further information contact Mr. Kovacs (921-8732), conductor, or J. Rogers Woolston (921-2478), secretary.

STRING BAND TO PLAY

At Witherspoon Church. The Putnam String County Band will appear in concert on Friday, October 12, at 8:15 at the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society.

Made up of four musicians who got together by playing square dances in Putnam County, New York, the Putnam String County Band brings together sounds from very diverse backgrounds. John Cohen is still a member of the New Lost City Ramblers as well as a solo performer, lecturer, folklorist and film maker. He plays guitar and banjo.

Jay and Lyn Ungar were formerly a part of Cat Mother and the All-Night Newsboys. Jay plays fiddle and mandolin, Lyn plays guitar. Abby Newton was formerly a member of the Madison (Wisconsin) Symphony Orchestra. She plays cello, violin, fiddle, jews harp and limberjack.

Admission for the concert is $2, $1.50 for students. Society members get a discount and memberships will be available at the door. For further information, contact Mrs. Caroline Moseley, 113 Linwood Circle, (921-3588).

Window Reflections

By Lewis F. Okenica

There I was a Republican, going from booth to booth in the Chocolate Shoppe last Friday, asking the Democrats I know to sign the nominating petition for Michael Morris, of Rocktown Road, West Amwell Township.

No, I was not being cynical nor contemptuous of the democratic process, but I was genuinely interested in seeing that Morris was able to gather enough names to earn a place on the ballot in the Primaries.

In fact, my feelings at the time were the opposite of cynicism. Because I knew most everyone in the eating place, I felt that it was my duty to introduce Morris to those in there who could see one of their candidates in the flesh.

I've known Mike for about two or three years and have found him to be a fine upstanding man of character and good will. But above all, I think he is a man who has high standards as a human being.

During the many times I have seen him in groups discussing issues of the day, I have seen his brows darken and his eyes flash as he took an opposite view even though he was a minority of one. I believe his standards encompass the broad issues of social significance, positive values and an honesty all of which are consistent and unwavering.

Morris will bring something new to the 14th Assembly District if he is nominated in the Primaries and if he is not saddled by the archaic political process of the Democratic party whereby he must knuckle down to what the party bosses say or else.

I'm not saying the Democrats are the only ones who are being led by the nose. We Republicans are right in there with the Democrats as far as voting the party and not our own welfare.

To me, Morris is something new yet a man I've known quite a long time. he is a man who has not been judged before. He is receptive and, I think, careless of failure.

Probably the most eloquent thing said about him was by William Martin of Ringoes, last week when he said, "Mike Morris' one trouble might be that he is too honest."

I consider that a plus but how will one honest man make out among those wolves in Trenton if he is elected?

"Inflated ideas about the future generally add up to more inflation. We mean to keep the Township's future affordable."

–Ev Garretson and Sandy Reynolds.

Government costs money. No argument there. But once you're in government, it's all too easy to let that become an excuse for shrugging off concern about overspending.

Particularly when it is, after all, someone else's money. The taxpayer's – yours. "Sorry, fella, but government does cost money, you know."

We know. Money has to be spent if we're to have the kind of future we all want for this very special place called Princeton.

But in spending that money, we mean never to forget where it came from – your pocketbook, your family budget. And how it got there to begin with – by hard work; it doesn't come easy.

We mean to make it a great future for all of us – but one we can all afford.

FREE EYE EXAMS SET

For Persons Over 35. During the week of October 7-13, the Medical Society of New Jersey will conduct the annual statewide eye health week.

This is done in cooperation with the N. J. State Commission for the Blind, Lions' Clubs of New Jersey and other cooperating organizations. This free eye examination is available to anyone 35 years of age or over who is not currently under medical eye care.

The short and painless detection examinations are scheduled as follows: Monday, October 8, 2 to 4 p.m., St. Francis Hospital, Dr. Irvin Levy; 6 to 8 p.m., Princeton Medical Center, Dr. E. Frederick Lascheyer; Wednesday, October 10, 7 to 9 p.m., the Mercer Hospital, Dr. George B. Sharbaugh; and Friday, October 12, 9 to 11 a.m., Helene Fuld Hospital, Dr. Arthur Sacks Wilner.

Two out of every 100 persons over 40 years of age may have an undetected eye disease, such as glaucoma, which should have treatment by a physician. Glaucoma and cataracts are two major causes of blindness.

One of every eight blind persons today is a victim of glaucoma. Practically all of them had normal sight most of their lives, but some time after 35 they lost vision because of this undetected disease. Basically glaucoma is the building up of fluid pressure in the eyeball. If detected in the early stages it can be controlled.

But one of the best and surest ways to spread your kindness is to contribute to an organization that spreads your kindness twenty ways—your United Fund-Red Cross campaign.

Once a year you are asked to give where you work, or at home if you favor homework. Giving a fair share of what the Lord has given to you is a fair way to go. Help twenty agencies and the Red Cross with your one contribution this October.

If you wait for someone else to do it—it may not get done. If you wait for someone to solicit your contribution, it may come too late. Why not send the coupon below right now and pledge just a little more of your own human kindness.

Even if you give where you work it will help the cause of human needs which your United Fund-Red Cross campaign can support. One gift goes through twenty agencies—a thousand ways.

SURREALISM ON VIEW

At Gallery of Fine Art. Surrealism literally means beyond reality. As an art movement, it had its origins many centuries past in mystery and fantasy paintings.

Surrealist paintings are usually designed to shock the conscious and jolt the viewer's perceptions to reveal hidden mysteries of the psyche. They are calculated to be a dream-like experience, in that all the elements are literal, real and true. Yet the positions, combinations and relationships in the paintings are such that a sense of the clear rationality of the nightmare is created.

In a classical surrealist situation it is not possible to be specific about symbolic meanings. The images are supposed to be generated to the painter from the inner levels of his thought machinery and reveal themselves to him and to the viewer in the manner of a dream. Ay, there's the rub!

We can assume that it was a dream that brought the giant peaches, pears and eggplant to the canvas of artist Reginald Neal. A long relationship with his subject is indicated by earlier works in the collection currently on display at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. Even before he was a surrealist he was artistically concerned with fruit and its portrayal.

The later years have kept him loyal to his subject but it has been brought to the viewer in a new, improved form. On canvases that are usually several feet in either dimension, Neal has depicted larger than-life fruit, usually at least one foot tall. Photographic realism is the hallmark here, and all the subject matter is displayed with nary a flaw, but somehow is endowed with an additional level of meaning, or the viewer is presented with an extra dimension of perception.

The result is a gathering of peaches, pears, and other natural goodies that, in their enormity, have some form of sensual endowment. While it is difficult to define, branches, twisted and gnarled with leafy garnish seem to offer vigorous contrast to sinuous curves and downy surfaces of the juicy-looking fruit. In some of the works the fruit floats over a dream life landscape. In others, it is combined with classical subjects and forms.

The viewer is left to puzzle the meaning while admiring this artists technique. Neal is a virtuoso with paint and brush and his paintings reflect this ability.

At Squibb International. Guatemalan weaving, painting and pottery is on display at the Squibb Galleries in Lawrenceville. Featured in the display are huipiles which are poncho-like garments.

Heavily decorated with embroidery, the huipiles display major religious symbols in the traditional bright hues of Guatemalan art. Symbols and colors are also repeated in other artifacts and pottery which display the Guatemalan culture as it has existed in the past.

The present is reflected in abstract paintings by Rodolfo Mishaan. Bold and strong, they are a contemporary echo of the intensity of the earlier art with some intimations of the cultural changes that are confronting this society.

At the Eye for Art. Traditional symbols in folk art usually reflect daily life in the form of animals and objects. The Kuna tribe of the San Blas Islands in Panama often use the animal life that surrounds them. Chickens, eat fish and turtles as well as pure geometric forms are major motifs. One of the most unusual products of this tribe is the mola, a reverse applique and embroidered picture panel that was incorporated into shirts and blouses as well as religious costume.

A collection of molas at the Eye for Art displays the rich intense color and the intricate construction of this art. There is a whimsical quality to the many animal forms which are presented in primitive style and enhanced by complex stitchery and intricate pattern.

Many pieces are fairly old and none are recent, as this is one of the many folk art forms that have been perverted by the tourist trade and the inroads of the 20th century.

At McCarter Theatre. The Princeton Art Association display of Instructors' Art is predominantly a graphics show. While other media are included, woodblock, etching, silk screen and collograph are heavily in view.

pair of paintings by I-han Chiang outstanding in this group. A landscape and a flower study both embody all the sensitive and delicate elements of a superbly executed traditional oriental painting. Grace, delicacy and blance as well as a soft, flowing use of color make these worth notice.

Some sculpture, a sand-casting and a few three dimensional paintings are also included.

At the Artisan. Illustrator Judy Graese creates fairy tale characters on pieces of wood. Using a wood burning tool and managing a fine, graceful line, this artist draws beautiful ladies and mythical - type men bringing them forth from the swirls and patterns of the wood grain.

At Studio on The Canal. Ayako Firsing is a new painter who is presenting her first collection. Mainly student works, they are competent.

Although she works in both watercolor and oil, it is the watercolors that display the most promise. Fluid and fresh flower studies reveal a sensitivity to both her subject and the medium.

FRIENDS SET RECEPTION

son. The Friends of Princeton University Art Museum will open their season Friday, October 12, with a Spanish-flavored reception, marking the opening of an exhibit devoted to the 17th century artist Jusepe de Ribera.

The reception and preveiw will be held in the Craig Galleries of the Museum. The exhibition of Ribera prints and drawings, the first in this country of the work of this Spanish Baroque artist, will open to the public the follwoing day.

Sangria and classical guitar music will set a suitably Spanish motif for the 8:30 to 10:30 members' reception being planned by Special Events Chairman Mrs. David Fleming. She is being assisted by Mrs. Carl D. Reimers and Mrs. Eugene P. Gillespie.

A dinner for individual and institutional lenders to the Ribera show, scholars, University administrators, Art Department faculty and members of the Board of Directors of the Friends of the Art Mueusm, will be held in Prospect prior to the evening reception, under Friends' auspices.

Attendance Growing. Invitations to the black tie opening, and membership renewal notices, were mailed this week to the nearly 1,200 current members. The Membership Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hamilton Cottier, is accepting applications for new memberships.

With Museum attendance growing rapidly (up 70¾ last year, with some 133,000 visitors clocked in) and its exhibits attracting increasing notice, an expanded membership — especially in Princeton and the surrounding area — is an aim of the Friends tihs year.

Support given to the Art Museum by the Friends makes the exhibition program possible. A direct gift of $27,000 was made toward exhibit costs during the year 1972-1973. An additional $4,500 was contributed for the acquisition of a rare Etruscan statuetle in honor of Miss Frances Jones, a long-time curator at the Museum.

Friends funds subsidize the scholarly Record of the Art Museum, a quarterly newsletter, and other pubilcations.

Membreship in the Friends of the Art Museum is open to all. The sole qualification is an interest in supporting the Museum — one of the oldest and finest university art museums in the country — and in enjoying the diverse privileges of membership.

Annual membership, good through next summer, is $15 for an individual or family and $25 for a "contributing" membership. There are special categories of membership for contributions of $100, $250, $500 and $1,000, with Life Membership awarded for contributions of $500 or above.

Application for membership can be made simply by mailing a check, payable to The Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University. Membership application forms are also available at the Museum desk. New members joining before Oct 12 will receive invitations to the opening event.

Further information can be botained fro mMrs. Cottier at 924-0294.

MUSEUM DISPLAYS WORKS

By Filippino Lippi. Two recently discovered Renaissance paintings by the 15th century Florentine painter Filippino Lippi have gone on display at The Art Museum of Princeton University.

Purchased by the Norton Simon Foundation, the monumental paintings form part of the Museum's on-going exhibition, "Selections from the Norton Simon Inc. Museum of Art and the Norton Simon Foundation."

The beautifully preserved "Saints Benedict and Apollonia" and "Saints Paul and Fredianus" — which have been virtually unknown — are discussed by Professor Millard Meiss of the Institute for Advanced Study in a forthcoming article in "The Art Bulletin." According to Meiss, a Visiting Lecturer in Art and Archaeology at Princeton, the two panels were wings of a triptych which had a wooden sculpture in the center.

They are mentioned, he has discovered, by Giorgio Vasari in 1550 as being in the church of San Poziano in Lucca, where they flanked a sculpture of Saint Anthony by Andrea Sansovino. They were in the collection of the Earls of Lucan in England in the 19th and 20th centuries, and surfaced briefly in 1964.

The left panel shows Saint Benedict, founder of the Benedictine order, in a black habit, carrying a crozier and birch branches. Standing beside him is Saint Apollonia, who was tortured by the removal of all her teeth. She carries a large tooth and an extractor. In the right panel is Saint Paul with a sword and Saint Fredianus, the patron saint of Lucca, carrying a crozier.

Filippino Lippi (c. 1457-1504) was the son of the painter Fra Filippo Lippi with whom he studied as a child. In 1472 he is mentioned as being an assistant of Sandro Botticelli. His early paintings are so close in their linear style to those of Botticelli that Bernard Berenson attributed them to "Amico di Sandro."

Around 1482 Lippi's style underwent a change under the influence of both the young Leonardo and Flemish painting. His paintings become richer in color with a new interest in reflections and textural variations. The figures show a new emotional depth. It is during this short but crucial phase of Lippi's career that the Simon panels were painted, c. 1482-1484.

The two panels show Lippi in the first flush of his discovery of Flemish painting. Parts of the beautiful landscape are variants of the landscape in Hans Memling's "The Madonna," now in the Uffizi. The depiction of emotional depth in the saints was inspired by Hugo van der Goes' "Portinari Altarpiece," which arrived in Florence in May of 1483.

The "Saints Benedict and Apollonia" and "Saints Paul and Fredianus" are the third major Italian paintings, unpublished and virtually unknown, which the Norton Simon Foundation has acquired in recent months. They join "Saints Elijah and John the Baptist" by Pietro Lorenzetti and "The Baptism" by Giovanni di Paolo which are all currently on exhibition at The Art Museum, Princeton University.

ONE THAT CAME THE TIGERS' WAY: This Rutgers fumble early in the third period was recovered by Princeton on the visitors' 26 and allowed the Tigers to narrow the scoring gap to 19-14. Four fumbles by Princeton, however, went to the Scarlet, aiding greatly in its 29-14 triumph. (Bob Matthews Photo)

Tigers See Lions as Stepping-Stone to Victory

SPORTS in Princeton

Facing the only opponent on its 1973 schedule which it is currently favored to defeat, Princeton's turnover plagued football team will seek to begin its Ivy League season with a victory Saturday at Columbia. The Baker Field kickoff is set for 1:30.

Having been devastated by Rutgers, 39 to 14, the Tigers are fortunate that their next outing is booked against the team most likely to finish last in the Ivy standings. Any other confrontation after the difficulties they encountered in their first game might saddle them with a sufficient load of disappointments to make a respectable season impossible to achieve. In short, they badly need confidence in themselves.

While the six touchdown parade that Rutgers mounted Saturday was a blow to hopes for an immediate turnabout in Princeton football fortunes, there is some consolation for the Orange and Black in that its own mistakes contributed largely to the final score. Eight times they gave the opposition the ball — four on fumbles and four on interceptions — a turnover total that none but the best of all defensive platoons could withstand.

In fact, if the Tigers had somehow been able to bring a dramatic end to their fumbling midway through the second half, it is entirely possible that they could have overcome the 19-0 deficit which followed them off the field at half-time, and won. With a minute left in the third quarter, they trailed by only 19-14 and had forced a Rutgers punt that gave them possession on their 18. Another fumble on which the visitors pounced followed, however, and three plays later it was 26-14, with all the momentum restored to the Scarlet.

Jennings a Fine Back. Five touchdowns by the 212 lb. Rutgers tailback, J. J. Jennings, (in all probability, a Palmer Stadium record) hung more points on the board than the Tigers could match. The first two were set up by Princeton fumbles, the third by an interception, and with ten seconds elapsed in the second quarter, the visitors had rolled up a 19-0 advantage.

When the third period started, Princeton had the ball and a new quarterback. Dave Alstretta began the game after earning the nod over seniors Fred Dalzell and Jim Flynn in the week prior to the contest, but the Tigers had not come close to a score. Sophomore Ron Beible who figured to be the backup quarterback no matter who started, got the assignment in the second half.

First time he directed the attack, Princeton drove 65 yards in ten plays for a touchdown principally on the running of Walt Snickenberger and a 28-yard pass over the middle to tight end Bob Harding. Snickenberger got the TD from two yards out and sophomore Stuart Morrison succeeded where Rutgers had missed in booting the first extra point.

Recovery of a fumble on the ensuing kickoff gave Princeton the ball on the visitors' 26 but they held and Morrison's try for a 37-yard field goal was wide to the left. Five minutes later, however, another Rutgers fumble came the Tigers' way on their 42, and Beible engineered a 58 yard march in nine plays, taking the ball in on a sneak. Morrison, who appears in for a fine career as the placement specialist, again converted to narrow the gap to five points.

The outcome of the game was determined in the next five minutes, Princeton losing a chance to take the lead after forcing the Scarlet to punt to the Tiger 18. A Beible-to-Snickenberger handoff was fumbled, Rutgers recovered and Jennings promptly got his fourth in three carries.

Two more Rutgers TDs followed in the final period, the last a 59-yard jaunt with reserves in action for both sides. Because unmannerly Scarlet rooters had torn down both sets of goal posts before the game ended, the victors tried a two point conversion play that missed. Since the same pack of fans had also demolished the posts on a nearby practice field, no one knew what would have happened had the outcome of the game hung on a place-kick.

Princeton Pluses. In evaluating the defeat, Coach Bob Casciola and his staff could at least look at the future with the belief that the team will improve measurably when it eliminates mistakes. Rutgers played a fair amount of solid football, but the four lost fumbles and four interceptions contributed by the Tigers went far to determine the outcome. When they are good enough to

After 60 Years, Something New

In its six decades on the Princeton scene, stately Palmer Stadium had never been witness to two incidents which marked the beginning and the end of Saturday's Rutgers - Princeton football game.

The six - man officiating crew was nearly 15 minutes late in reporting for duty, nonchalantly keeping some 27,000 spectators waiting even after the officials had been informed that the kickoff was set for 1:30, not 2 o'clock.

With close to five minutes of playing time left, over-enthusiastic Rutgers fans tore down both sets of goal posts. Their eagerness for souvenirs unsated, they also took down the posts on the adjacent practice field.

"The decision to start the game at 1:30 may not have been properly provided to the Eastern College Athletic Conference," Athletic Director Royce Flippin said. Whatever the reason, the striped-shirt delegation was further delayed in its appearance when the game balls were not presented to them for inspection in their dressing room, in line with new regulations for the current season.

cut down on the errors, they will have a far greater hand in determining their own destiny.

Off his production of two touchdowns playing catch - up ball, Beible will be the starting quarterback against Columbia. His passing was no better than 6 for 16, with two interceptions, but expectations are that he will improve markedly with increasing experience.

Lost in the glamour of Jennings' 193 yards gained and five touchdowns was the fact that Snickenberger ran for 172 yards and had a far better average than the Rutgers' star: 6.8 to 4.9. Snick's one-game total was almost half that credited to the Tigers' leading ground-gainer in the entire 1972 season, and his return to action will be of immense value.

On defense, sophomore Aaron Satterthwaite gave a good account of himself at left end, while safety Jim Stephens paced the over-worked platoon with 11 tackles and seven assists. Ken Beytin's shoulder injury kept him below par and there was sufficient problems at the line so that the deep secondary was far busier than it should have been.

COLUMBIA HAS PROBLEMS

Lions Lack Offense. Held to less than 100 yards by Bucknell in a scoreless tie Saturday, Columbia for the first time lacks a quarterback of the Don Jackson, Marty Domres, Archie Roberts tradition. Without that sort of asset, the Lions will have trouble posting points on the board, even against a Princeton defense that yielded six TDs to Rutgers.

So devastating was the graduation scythe that Columbia lost 25 of 36 lettermen, prompting a harassed publicity man to write that "The Lions greatest lack is inexperience." Most of the returning strength is concentrated in the defense line and deep secondary.

Tight End Mike Telep, the only sophomore named to the All-Ivy team last fall, is the top receiver, with junior Jose Rios, a transfer from the University of Miami, the quarterback. George Georges, Glen Smith and Harry Bodnar are the principal ball carriers.

At 3-5-1 last year, Columbia had exactly the same record as did Princeton, with which it played a 0-0 tie. The difference this season is that whereas the Lions have lost much in personnel, the Tigers are somewhat better off than they were last fall, and should be able to demonstrate their superiority on Saturday.

SECOND GAME FRIDAY

For PDS Football Team. After an unexpected two-week layoff, the Princeton Day football team will get back in action this Friday at 3:30 when it meets Morristown - Beard at home.

The Panthers got Croydon Hall to agree to postpone their contest scheduled for last Friday, when five key members of the team were suspended from school for one week. Croydon Hall, whose season begins extremely late anyway, was happy to have the extra practice time.

Certain the Blue and White were able to put it to good use also, Coach John Boneparth spent last week drilling many of his younger players on individual skills, and this week with his players reinstated, he will prepare for the game. Not surprisingly, PDS was guilty of several mistakes in its opening 28-0 defeat by Germantown.

After one initial thrust, which brought it to Germantown's 15-yard line, the offense did not threaten seriously the rest of the game. In addition to fumbles and interceptions, the usual number of missed blocking assignments, hitting the wrong hole and the like, all served to bog down the attack around midfield.

Morristown is also having its problems this year, giving up 73 points and scoring none in two games. It lost to Pennington Prep, 24-0, two weeks ago, and was bombed, 49-0, last Friday by Pope John.

Boneparth reports that the team relies mainly on a couple of better than average running backs. It has good size, but not much speed, and he'll be emphasizing quickness and ability to the PDS players this week.

PHS WINS TWO MORE

In Cross Country. Led by record-breaker Pete Nichols, the visiting Princeton High School Cross Country team defeated St. Anthony's 15-50 and Hun 15-47 in separate meets last week. Princeton took the first nine places against St. Anthony, four under the previous course record held by Walter Holloway of Trenton.

First for Princeton over the 3.0 mile course was Nichols (14:48), followed by John Woodside (14:54), Royce Flippin (15:14) and Tim Anderson (15:18). Other top finishers were: Steve Roderick, Rex Hay, Morgan Snyder, Mike Clohossey and Mike Bolster.

The JV race, also won by Princeton was led by Bill Frazier. The Little Tigers took the top three spots to defeat St. Anthony's 17-42. Other top finishers for Princeton included: Peter Schwartz, George Chambers, and John Riddell.

Breaking a school course record for the third time in as many meets, Nichols led the Princeton pack in the Hun meet, closely followed by Woodside, Flippin, Anderson and Snyder.

The JV, (3-0), led by George Chambers, also won 16-41. Finishing second behind Chambers was John Middell.

Princeton High School's next home meet will be Friday, October 5 against Hamilton. The meet will begin at 3:45 at Palmer Stadium.

WINDS CREATE PROBLEMS

For Carnegie Skippers. Twenty sailors participated in Sunday's races on Carnegie Lake — the fourth day of races in the Sailing Club's fall season.

But for many of the 16 Sunfish skippers and four Laser sailors, it was a day of frustration as light winds shifted direction or died away to a dead calm at the wrong time. The down-wind mark in the first of four races was so close to the shallows that the leading boats ran aground, forcing their skippers to watch in frustration as the trailers, seeing where the shoals were and smiles on their faces avoiding them, sailed by with.

In the Sunfish class, Dick Hill took first place, followed by Dick Jesser, Joel Johnson and Jim McPherson. In the Lasers, Bob Holzman returned to last year's form to capture first place. John Henderson and Jack Johnson tied for second place.

PENNINGTON WINS AGAIN

Eure Scores All Points. Junior halfback Jerry Eure scored all three touchdowns Saturday as Pennington School defeated Pennsylvania School for the Deaf, 22-0. Pennington is 2-0.

Eure, who is averaging 12 yards a carry in two games, scored twice in the second period. His first TD was a 54-yard scamper around right end. Later he combined with Ernie Cruz on a perfect screen pass that covered 71 yards. Key blocks by Nat Shephard and Pete Cerenzo helped spring him loose.

Eure's final tally came in the third on a 40-yard run, following a Pennington recovery of a PSD fumble.

PHS, 2-0, Takes Aim at First County Title

It was almost immoral First Princeton High and then Ewing extravagantly squandered scoring opportunities in their game Saturday, which PHS won, 21-7.

Unlike the opener in which PHS made few mistakes, the Little Tigers committed sufficient errors to last all season against Ewing. Princeton won primarily because of the running of Ron Campbell who averaged almost nine yards a carry, including an insurance 36 yard touchdown run with 4.54 remaining, and Bob Zinsmeister, and because PHS quarterback John Mooney was more consistent and more accurate than his Ewing counterpart, Mike Jones.

As a consequence, PHS is 2-0 against Mercer County foes. It has run up 51 points while allowing its own goal line to be crossed but once. And it has a better than even chance of making it three straight against a county team when it plays host to St. Anthony Friday at 3:15.

The Friday date is correct. The game was moved ahead a day because of the Jewish holiday.

St. Anthony 0-2. Defeated 13-6 by Trenton in its last start, St. Anthony is 0-2. New coach Geoff Hill, who left the PHS football coaching staff after one year to accept the offer to guide the Iron Mikes, has installed the same run and shoot offense that PHS coach Dick Wood introduced last year.

So at the very least the two teams will be familiar with each other's style of play. The Little Tigers, however, have had the extra year to become familiar with the formation that puts a premium on close timing and ball handling. Off its first two games, the Blue and White has proven it can put points on the board; it appears to have too much both offensively and defensively for St. Anthony to handle.

The PHS schedule, incidentally, is evenly divided into thirds. A St. Anthony victory would bring an end to the first third and leave the Little Tigers undefeated in league play.

PHS, in the middle third, plays three non-league teams — Hillsborough, Bridgewater and Hun. Then comes the final third, a showdown segment against Steinert, Notre Dame and Trenton. The Irish contest will be the big one; a PHS victory and the Little Tigers may be the wearers of the first official Mercer County League crown.

ZINSMEISTER RUNS FOR DAYLIGHT: On the third ploy of the game Saturday against Ewing, Princeton High halfback Bob Zinsmeister broke loose for 41 yards to the Ewing nine yard line. Play was nullified by a holding penalty, but Zinsmeister came back four plays later to score the Little Tigers only TD in the first half from 10 yards out. PHS won, 21-7.

PHS Starts Fast. Against Ewing, PHS started fast as Zinsmeister ran from the 50 to the Ewing nine on the third play of the game. However, a holding penalty pushed the Little Tigers back to their own 22. Undaunted, PHS drove the 78 yards in four plays.

Most of the yardage came on two air strikes from Mooney, the first a 28-yarder to end Mark Campbell and another to Mike Diamond that carried to the 12. Zinsmeister went over on the next play.

Steve Tomlinson kickeil the first of three extra points. On two of them he had to kick from five yards farther out because of PHS infractions. He is now 7 for-7 in conversions.

PHS, which rushed for 207 yards compared to 62 for Ewing, containing Ewing's fine fullback, Tom Knzniacki, in the process, continued to rip through Ewing behind some excellent work by the PHS offensive line. Campbell bolted 52 yards to the 20 for Princeton's fifth of 14 first downs. That thrust evaporated five plays later when Gary Melchor intercepted Mooney's tipped pass to Zinsmeister in the end zone.

Again, still in the first period, following an interception of a Jones' pass by Diamond (one of four picked off by PHS) Campbell carried to the one-foot line on a reverse. It turned out to be a double reverse as PHS was pushed back to its own 38, the result of a holding penalty against Jeff Drummond.

Ewing finally got rolling when Mooney and fullback Jack Bayer failed to click on a handoff and the home team bulled over from the one. Ernie Barbiero's PAT tied the score.

Ewing Gains Momentum. Ewing took over the momentum after Mooney was blindsided by a tackle by Kevin Stewart that jarred the ball loose and Ewing took over on the Princeton 35. Now it was Ewing's turn to commit frustrating penalties.

On third down from the 26, Jones connected with Kuzniacki for an apparent go ahead TD. No go. Ewing had a back in motion. Then after a pass interference call against Robert Wood of Princeton moved the ball half way to the goal for Ewing, placing it on the 14 yard line. Jones went back to pass.

Finding no one open he ran down the sidelines and went in for the score. No again. Clipping this time. On the next play, Zinsmeister intercepted a Jones pass.

PHS Dominates 2d Half. Both sides had the chance to take command in the second half but it was Princeton which dominated throughout. Late in the third period, Zinsmeister returned a punt to the Ewing 36. "Way to punish them, Bobby," shouted a teammate from the bench.

On the first play of the final period, Bayer crashed over from the one. In the remaining minutes, PHS at one point fumbled the ball three times in six plays but covered every one. Campbell was the money runner when it counted, getting a first down on a third and six situation and then going 36 yards for six points on a second and 20.

Two more interceptions in the half, one by George Reynolds and another by Steve Kopp in the waning minutes kept Ewing untracked. Jones completed only two of nine passes and had four picked off, giving the PHS secondary eight thefts in its first two games.

Afterwards, Wood admitted that the "penalties, missed assignments and dropped balls" had kept PHS from moving. He cited Campbell, who was hampered in the first game with a hip pointer injury, for his running. "He ran full out today; the boy has brains in his feet," Wood added that Campbell was the fastest boy on the squad for 40 yards.

Wood also praised the play of Mark Campbell at end, Diamond and Zinsmeister. "Zinsmeister," he commented, "is really the leader of this club, offensively and defensively."

But Wood refused to forget the mistakes. "We should have had two or three touchdowns in the first half and they shouldn't have had any. We've got to eliminate those mistakes."

Notre Dame may not be as forgiving as Ewing.

HUN TESTS PENNINGTON

After Loss to Peddie. Hun lost its second football game in two starts last week when Peddie ran over the visiting Johnny Huns, 27-6.

Pennington School, Hun's next opponent Saturday at 2 at Pennington, has won its first two in easy fashion. The Red Raiders blanked Pennsylvania School for the Deaf last week, 22-0, to remain not only unbeaten but unscored upon. Yet the two area rivals may be more closely matched than the early season scores would indicate.

"I think we'll be ready for them," said Hun coach Dave Leete. "We've faced tough competition in our last two games." Leete didn't say it but it's no secret that Pennington's first two foes, Morristown-Beard and PSFD are not in Peddie's league.

Hun's top goal will be stopping Jerry Eure, Pennington's sensational junior runner who scored three TDs last week and ran for 243 yards in the opener. Pennington has defeated Hun the last two years in a row and Hun is itching to deflate the Raiders.

Gocke Is Hun Thorn. It was Hun's turn to be deflated Saturday by Peddie. Its principal tormentor was Gerard Gocke, a post-grad student and former quarterback at Notre Dame High School. Gocke ran for two touchdowns in the second period to stake the home team to an 18-6 lead. Hun scored its lone TD in the second period as Bruce LiSooey's two-yard plunge climaxed a 70 yard drive. The extra point kick was wide.

Leete singled out halfback Bob McHugh and end Dave Clark for their offensive play. Quarterback Kevin Dwyer was 4-for-8 in passing, his favorite target being Clark.

"Peddie was just too big and strong for us," Leete commented.

IVY LOSES ANOTHER

12-6 to Ewing Giants. Hard luck is following the Ivy Inn football team from one Sunday to another in the Mercer County flag football league.

Last week Ivy lost in the final minute, 13-8, and had a touchdown called back; this week it suffered a 12-6 defeat at the hands of the Ewing Giants, and had another score nullified by a penalty.

The end result finds the Princeton entry in the league cellar, tied with P&G Smugglers, still looking for its first victory after three weeks of play. Its record is 0-2-1.

Playing under the lights in the rain last Saturday, Ivy gave up a first period score to Ewing on a long end sweep, but rallied in the second quarter to tie teh score on a 30-yard screen pass from Mike Maguire to Bill Bartolino. Both teams missed conversion attempts and the score stood 6-6 at the intermission.

Ewing pushed ahead in the third quarter, 12-6, and held on to win when Ivy had its second score called back. Bruce Sanvdik playing halfback ran the ball in from 20 yards out, but had to jump over a Giants player just before the end zone, and the league rules do not permit a ball carrier to hurdle a defensive player.

The other teams in the league remained tightly bunched as Sportsworld and Joe & Lena's tied 8-8, the Chambersburg Chargers upset Candlelight Lounge 21-20 on a last minute score and Jo-Jo's whipped Smugglers, 20-0. This Sunday at 10:45 on Mercer County field, Ivy will take on Jo-Jo's.

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Joe & Lena's	2	0	1	5
Sportsworld	2	0	1	5
Ewing	2	1	0	4
Jo-Jo's	2	1	0	4

GARY WALTERS RETURNS

As Assistant Basketball Coach. Gary Walters, 28, head basketball coach at Union College for the past three years, has been named assistant basketball coach at Princeton. Walters, a standout as a player at Princeton from 1964-67, will assume his duties this week.

Walters arrived at Union in 1970 and led the Dutchmen to records of 18-3, 19-3, and 16-7. Prior to his arrival, Union had suffered through six consecutive losing seasons.

Walters attended Reading High School where he played under Pete Carril for three years and was an All State selection. At Princeton, he was a starter at guard for three years from 1964-67, and played on the 1965 NCAA semi-final tournament team with Bill Bradley.

After graduating from Princeton in 1966, Walters became freshman basketball coach at Lehigh for one year and then moved onto a similar position at Dartmouth. He was head coach at Middlebury for the 1969-70 season before assuming his duties at Union. The vacancy he fills here was created by the resignation of former Princeton coach Bill van Breda Kolff, who had been signed as Carril's assistant, to become general manager and coach of the Memphis Tams.

THREE ARE PROMOTED By Educational Testing — Educational Testing Service has announced three major staff appointments.

Herman F. Smith, formerly of Pennington, assistant treasurer and controller of ETS since 1970, has been named director of the organization's Berkeley office in California.

Smith joined ETS in 1966 after retiring from the U. S. Air Force with the rank of colonel. While in the Air Force, he served as executive to the Vice Chief of Staff and also as a member of the West Point faculty and head of the Department of Behavioral Sciences at the Air Force Academy.

Frederick H. Dietrich, 25 Dublin Road, Pennington, was named area director of the admissions and guidance programs that ETS develops and administers for the College Entrance Examination Board.

Mr Dietrichs new responsibilities include the scholastic aptitude and achievement tests, taken each year by approximately one and a half million high school students. Mr. Dietrich, with bachelor's and master's degrees from Stevens Institute of Technology, formerly was executive associate to ETS vice president from general programs.

John A. Winterbottom, 26 Random Road, has been named special assistant in the office of the president.

A staff member since 1963, Mr. Winterbottom formerly was associate division director of the General Programs Division at ETS, where his responsibilities included the development and management of various graduate and professional school testing programs and the installation of the recently established Multistate Bar Examination.

ESTIMATE IS LOWERED On Bank's Earnings. James D. Elleman, Chairman, has announced that Princeton American Bancorp has revised downward its estimate of 1973 income.

Mr Elleman said, "In the face of extremely unsettled money market conditions and volatile interest rate changes it has become apparent that our earlier 1973 earnings estimates will not be achieved. It is possible that earnings per share could be as much as 15% to 20% below the previous forecast of $1.90 per share given in the second quarter report."

Mr Elleman indicated that the forecast is substantially below Princeton American's former expectations due to short term factors in the money markets, and certain policy decisions which have been made recently to improve Princeton American's competitive stance. Short term factors include:

(1) lower than anticipated demand and savings deposits.

(2) sharply increased certificate of deposit and Federal fund borrowings at substantially higher rates.

(3) the rising prime rate has increased costs in those non-banking subsidiaries which are supported by bank lines of credit.

The major policy decision affecting earnings was Princeton American's move in early July to raise regular savings rates and rates on consumer certificates to the highest permitted by law. In conjunction with this decision to become more competitive in the consumer market place, Princeton American has just started on a major long range plan to concentrate its assets in more productive areas.

Mr Elleman said, "Our decisions to be more competitive for consumer funds and to restructure our asset priorities is a major change for Princeton American Bancorp. We are sacrificing current earnings for future growth. We are confident that these decisions will prove to be the foundation for a new era of profitable growth for Princeton American Bancorp."

NAME CHANGE PROPOSED For Bank Holding Co. James D. Elleman, Chairman of Princeton American Bancorp, has announced a proposed major change in the name of the bank holding company. The new name, voted on and approved by the Board of Directors is "Horizon Bancorp."

Mr Elleman said, "Now that New Jersey has state - wide banking and a substantially more competitive environment we plan to create a coordinated marketing effort which will enable the holding company's member banks and subsidiaries to project a unified identity, through intensified advertising and promotion. After extensive study by management and an outside consulting firm, we recommend changing our corporate name to Horizon Bancorp as a major part of the implementation of our new marketing thrust. The names of this corporation's two banking subsidiaries, American National Bank & Trust of New Jersey, which serves western Essex, Morris, Sussex, and Warren counties, and Princeton Bank and Trust Company, which serves suburban Mercer, will remain the same.

Mr Elleman also indicated that the company wishes to change the dividend payment date on its common and preferred stocks forward 45 days from the fifteenth of March, June, September and December, to the first of February, May, August and November. This would change the dividend payment dates to one month from the end of each quarter so that checks and quarterly reports could be mailed together to save dupli-

What's even harder is keeping so many customers satisfied all the time. But that's just what telephone people have always tried to do. We think you'll agree that we generally succeed. But, sometimes you may be charged for a call you didn't make or an operator blows his or her cool. Or an installer fails to show up as promised.

And then we hear about it—and rightly so. In fact, that's good. Because it keeps us on our toes.

People have always expected more from the telephone company, so being good isn't good enough. We know this. And because we're committed to satisfying each and every one of you, we're going all out to provide the best phone service possible.

SEEK ANOTHER MEETING On Sewers. A meeting with Federal environmental officials within two weeks is "most important" as the next move in the regional sewer situation, declared Township Mayor Jay Bleiman at Committee meeting Monday night.

Mayor Bleiman, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, and Borough Councilmen Thomas Cawley and Arthur Morgan met Friday with Richard Sullivan, the state's Commissioner of Environmental Protection to try, in Mayor Bleiman's words "to re-open lines of communication" between Mr. Sullivan and the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority.

Commissioner Sullivan has agreed to send Federal officials the Authority's plan for a single sewage treatment plant, but he hasn't yet done so, pending technical review that may take three weeks, Mayor Bleiman reported.

The single most important Federal criterion — new in the last two years — is the impact of a sewerage project on land use, the mayor reported. Stony Brook's plan could affect undeveloped Hopewell Township, he explained, bringing unwanted growth.

Commissioner Sullivan acknowledged his embarrassment, the mayor reported, having supported a single treatment plant, he now can not because of the new Federal impact guideline.

The real "bombshell," Mayor Bleiman said, is — no Federal money for collector systems. The Authority's package of five proposals included four separate collector systems, one each for Pennington Borough, the two Hopewells and West Windsor.

The Authority had been assuming that the entire system could be a single package, but as Mayor Cawley put it, "no hope was held out to us that we'd get money even if the four collector systems were brought into the package."

Mayor Bleiman said Commissioner Sullivan was embarrassed also over Pennington's predicament: the town had sewer money and plans many years ago, but the state denied Pennington permission to build its own plant, and ten required it to go regional.

"We want to make sure momentum was maintained in solving this problem," commented Mayor Cawley, "the question is will the Federal people be willing to meet with us, before they get the formal application?"

RCA SCIENTIST PROMOTED: Richard J. Hollingsworth receives congratulations from Dr. William M. Webster, Vice-President, RCA Laboratories, on Mr. Hollingsworth's promotion to Member of Technical Staff at RCA. Mr. Hollingsworth, who joined RCA in 1971 as a Research Associate, received a Bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering from Princeton in 1971. He lives at 22 North Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

8 WEEK COURSE SET On Child Rearing. A unique "school for parents" will open for interested Princeton residents Thursday, October 18, when C. Raymond Trout of Princeton, begins an eight week workshop course called Parent Effectiveness Training.

P.E.T. is a program designed by Dr. Thomas Gordon, a noted clinical psychologist and author of the book "Parent Effectiveness Training: The Tested New Way To Raise Responsible Children."

Mr. Trout, a clergyman trained in counseling and human relations, and serving currently as Chaplain of the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, says that P.E.T. doesn't provide "answers" to child rearing problems.

It trains parents in the skills of communication whereby they can more effectively arrive at solutions to family conflicts.

The workshop will be held on eight consecutive Thursdays (except Thanksgiving), from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Road. The course is open to parents of children of all ages, to single parents, parents-to-be, and all interested persons.

The workshop will be limited to 25 people. Mothers and fathers are encouraged to take the course together, but it is not required. Those interested may contact Mr. Trout, 924-8193, R.D. 1, Box 310, Princeton 08540, for more information and enrollment.

The tuition of $65 per person covers the 24 hours of instruction, plus all materials used in the course.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED For YWCA Gymnastics Team. The YWCA Gymnastics Team will hold tryouts Wednesday, October 17, from 5:30-7:30 p.m., at the "Y".

There will be three practice sessions leading up to this final tryout, on Saturday, October 6, from 1:30-3:00; Wednesday, October 10 from 5:30-7 and Saturday, October 13 from 1:30-3. Any girl from age nine to eighteen is eligible for tryouts.

This year the club is under the direction of Linda Eveland, assistant director of the health, physical education and recreation department at the YWCA as well as two excellent gymnasts from Trenton State, Ted Jackson and Alicia Quinto.

The Club is hoping to begin its season soon and to enter as well as sponsor as many meets as possible.

SPORTS Go-Round

by JOHN SUTTON

Boxing has always been a most exciting sport. However, only two famous boxers, Gene Tunney (1926-28) and Rocky Marciano (1952-1956), ever retired undefeated champions. Muhammad Ali was undefeated in 29 fights during a professional career of six years and five months. Although he later came back to fight Joe Frazier, to whom he lost his title, some commentators argue that the title was lost when he refused to be inducted into the army.

There's no argument about the quality, service and selection at SPORTS N THINGS, Montgomery Shopping Center, 924-8162; it's a fact that they are outstanding. We offer a wide range of sportswear and sporting equipment and will be happy to help you with your selections. Open: 10-6 Mon-Wed; 10-9 Thur, Fri; 10-6 Sat; 10-2 Sun.

STONE'S LINEN SOLD

Founded in 1908. Stone's Linen Shop has been sold

The 20 Nassau Street shop, in the same location for "19 years and one month," as Ben Stone puts it, has been purchased for an undisclosed price by Burton Sussman of Lawrence Township.

The sale was a quick one, negotiated in just one month. "It was easy," remarks Mr Sussman. "Ben Stone is such a gentleman!"

A New Jersey native, from Woodbury, Mr. Sussman has lived in the state all his life except for his years in the service during World War II and at American International College in Springfield, Mass., where he was graduated in 1949.

For six years he was in sales and management with the Prudential Life Insurance Company and for over 13 years he owned a successful retail establishment in the Lawrence-Trenton area. He and his wife, Barbara, and their four youngsters live in Lawrence. The children are a five-year-old son; two girls, 10 and 11; and a son, 18.

"We're eager to see Princeton's young shoppers in Stone's," says Mr. Sussman, with a smile for his young daughters, "and we'll keep the Stone policy — 'If you can't find it anywhere else, you'll find it at Stone's.' The same fine lines of linen, of course — Wamsutta, Martex and the rest."

The linen shop was founded in 1908 by Ben Stone's father, and the store was a Trenton shopper's landmark for many years. Mr Stone, who had spent over a dozen years with Empire Ordnance Corporation, a big New York conglomerate "in everything from tanks and cannon to candy," he recalls, closed his father's Trenton store and moved to 20 Nassau Street in 1954.

Mrs. Ethel Stone has always been part of the enterprise and has welcomed customers to the store. She was retired as a teacher from the Trenton public school system seven years ago.

Like Mr Stone, Mrs Sussman will be personally on hand, in the shop Mrs. Sussman, with a five-year-old to watch, will only be around after school.

For several weeks, Mr. Stone will help his successor in the store, then "I'm just going to take it easy!"

ARCHITECTS HONORED

For Two Projects. The Princeton architectural firm of Geddes Brecher Qualls Cunningham, 112 Nassau Street, has received two honor awards from the New Jersey Society of Architects.

The design for the expansion of facilities at the Institute for Advanced Study was cited for "the consistent strength and integrity of the project's unequivocal design."

Completed in 1971, the $4 million, 60,000 square-foot expansion consists of an academic office building and dining hall commons. The jury also praised the quality and detail of the interior spaces.

Preliminary design of the third phase of the newly founded Stockton State College in Atlantic County also received an honor award from the state architectural society.

First phase construction at Stockton State College, also designed by the Princeton firm, received an award as a finished building. The jury cited the circulation plan, which provides numerous opportunities for future expansion and space re-allocation.

HOSPITAL PLAN ON VIEW

At Health Congress. A hospital project by Fulmer and Bowers, Architects, of Princeton was exhibited at the American Health Congress recently. Hamilton Hospital was one of a group of health care facilities selected for display at this national convention.

Hamilton Hospital was considered to be of interest to Health Congress participants (numbering over 13,000 this year) because of several features all patient care is on one floor, one wing is circular with 17 "acute care" patient rooms around a central "core" for close nursing attention; the building heating, air conditioning and power systems are totally electric; each patient room has individual climate control; a helicopter landing pad is provided near the emergency entrance; the construction cost was considerably less than hospitals of similar size built concurrently.

Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, Builders, of Princeton were construction managers for the hospital.

TWO ARE PROMOTED

By Western Electric. The Western Electric Engineering Research Center (ERC) on Carter Road, Hopewell Township, has announced the promotions of two staff members to supervisory positions at the center.

Peter F. Lilienthal, 29 Edwards Place, and John L. Bestel, Route 518, Montgomery Township, will become research leaders, respectively, of ERC's thermal energy studies group, and materials and environmental characterization group, effective October 1.

Both men hold Ph.D. degrees, Dr. Lilienthal in mechanical engineering and Dr. Bestel in physical metallurgy, and both have been employed by Western Electric at the Research Center since 1970.

FIVE WIN AWARDS

For Architectural Designs. Five Princeton architectural firms have been cited for outstanding design achievement for their projects at the 73rd annual convention of the New Jersey Society of Architects. The five comprised half of the total of 10 cited in the state. They are Holt - Morgan Schwartz for a school addition to Rumson Country Day School, and Terrace Housing, an alternative to the single family house, and Michael E. Graves, for Hanselmann House, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Also, Geddes Brecher Qualls and Cunningham for dining hall commons and academic office building, at the Institute for Advanced Study, and Stockton State College, Pomona, Calif.; John Diehl & Associates and the office of Max D. Urbahn of New York, for Rutgers Medical Center, and J. Robert Hillier, for Greenbrook Village Condominiums, Greenbrook Township.

LOANS HARD TO GET

Tight money and high interest on loans are having a profound impact on the public. While the average borrower understands generally why we are having inflation, many people are probably unfamiliar with the real causes and significance of high interest rates and money shortage.

Dr. Paul S. Nadler, Professor of Business Administration at Rutgers, has written three articles on this subject, which have been provided as a public service by the New Jersey Bankers Association. This is the third in the series.

In Periods of Inflation. Now if applying sound fiscal and monetary policy for the nation? It may surprise you but it's the fellow right down the street, your commercial banker.

His bank and some 13,900 others are the safety valve on our economy. They don't do it on their own. There's a quasi-governmental body called the Federal Reserve System.

It controls the amount of money banks can lend. When inflation threatens, they can shut it down to a trickle. When the economy needs a burst they open it up.

Under regulations, banks must limit their loans according to a formula based on the actual cash they have on hand or on deposit at the "banker's bank" — the Federal Reserve.

If the bank does not have enough of this so-called "reserve" available, it is not allowed to make new loans.

In order to tighten credit and slow inflation, the Feder

COMMUNITY VIGIL BEGUN

At First Baptist Church. Citing the "polarization and distrust" prevalent in the nation and the "mute communications and ill will between races," the Rev. Edward Smith of the First Baptist Church has called on other churches and synagogues in the Princeton area to join his congregation in a community-wide prayer vigil each Wednesday from 12:15 to 12.45.

Calling it "one great moment of heart sharing," Mr Smith conceives of the vigil as a means of rededicating people to the theme, "In God We Trust."

The first service was held this week at First Baptist Church, Avalon Place and John Street. They are scheduled to continue through December 5.

"We would like to ask a slow-down of all industries, our schools, seminary, universities and colleges in the area for this one great moment of heart - sharing each Wednesday," the minister said, "and to have someone represent them here in this half hour of rededicating your trust."

Those attending the vigil may park on Avalon Place beginning at the church and extending back to Witherspoon Street.

Mr. Smith is encouraging the ringing of church bells each Wednesday at noon to signal the time for the gathering.

RESEARCHER APPOINTED

At Theological Seminary. The Rev. Dr. Kenneth G Neigh has been appointed a Senior Research Fellow at the Princeton Theological Seminary. He has been selected to prepare a history of the 50 years of the now defunct Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, USA

Dr. Neigh served as General Secretary of the Board of National Missions from 1959 until his resignation last year to become the executive of the "Commission of Eleven," the body charged with coordinating the new structure in the church.

The history he will write under his Princeton appointment will lay special emphasis on the work of the Board during the last 20 years, which has never been chronicled, and will interpret the changes in American culture over the last half century as they have affected the work of the Board of National Missions.

Dr. Neigh's career has included experience as organizing pastor in Michigan, a period as vice-president of McCormick Theological Seminary (of which he is an alumnus), and service as executive of the presbytery of Detroit and the synod of Michigan. al Reserve limits the available reserves of the banks or raises the reserve requirements.

So the Federal Reserve controls policy. The banks represent the instrument by which those policies are carried out. Currently, money is 'tight".

Loans are harder to come by. Interest rates are high. The banker is playing the "bad guy" in a script he didn't write.

Your banker is the man in the middle. It's up to him to make the restraints work at community level. I think we all agree that even when we can't get all the money we want it's better than runaway inflation.

IF WE PUT IN ALL THE TREES,

YOU WOULDN'T SEE THE HOUSE!!

Pretty inside and out, and eminently liveable, that's our new listing in attractive Cranbury. Master bedroom suite with combination guest room-dressing room and bath, 2 corner bedrooms and hall bath—everything from the formal living room with brick fireplace to the excellent eat-in kitchen with adjoining family room is in apple pie shape.

The lot is something special, with spectacular trees and established shrubbery giving almost complete privacy from the street. The pool area is fenced—and carpeted! And there is a small dog run.

All you can wish in a house—and more. Offered at $85,000

VANDEVENTER VICTORIAN

The personality of its period was built into this roomy duplex at Number 33,, and the present owners have enhanced it with imaginative and tasteful renovating. The ceilings are high, the windows big and numerous, so that the house has a lovely light, peaceful and uncramped air about it. Living and dining rooms, both attractive and inviting, family kitchen, cozy TV room, two lovely big bedrooms, one smaller one, and 1½ baths occupy the first two floors. Topping it all off, in more ways than one, is the marvelous, get-away-from-it-all third floor master suite—handsome big bedroom, capacious study, dressing room and fine bath—with its view over rooftops and through tall trees. The flexible floor plan makes the rooms usable in various ways, depending on owner choice. A summer porch overlooks the small yard which is presently practically care-free, potentially an enchanting garden; again, owner's choice. Added attraction: anyone living here needn't worry about gasoline shortages! Offered at $79,500

Autumn has arrvied, bringing with it a change of pace from the lazy-hectic paradox of summer. For some it means a ride in the country by a pastoral scene of variegated colors. For others it suggests 3-day football weekends and Monday (and Tuesday) morning quarterbacking. And for most everyone, along the way there's the Fall Classic, apple cider, de-mothballing sweaters, pumpkins, and snow tires.

For those looking for a new home, Autumn provides pleasant weather, some good buys, and a chance to get settled in time to enjoy the holiday season. We have an older 2-story house in Penns Neck, with six rooms a bath, fireplace basement and 2-car garage. On a quiet street it is particularly convenient to R.C.A. and Penn Central station, and is offered at $41,500. On the other side of Princeton, near Hopewell, is a well-maintained 6-room Cape Cod, in a natural, wooded setting, and with an asking price of $43,000. Cold Soil Road, near Lawrenceville, provides a very attractive site for an unusually solid 20-year old Colonial which lists a fireplace and central air conditioning among its features; a handsome house on a beautiful lot — $67,500. Well back from the road on a treed 3.5 acre lot in nearby South Brunswick Township is a fine brick ranch house, also with fireplace and central air. Convenient to neighbors, to Princeton, and to transportation but with plenty of space for fun, gardens, and nature — $87,500. Overlooking Penn View Heights and a good piece of Hopewell Township countryside, is a fine Thompson-designed Colonial that combines a sense of elegance with down-to-earth comfort. Eight rooms, 2½ baths, a fireplace, central air, and very attractive landscaping. $96,500. Truly a home for all seasons is this English Manor House in Princeton Borough's western end. From its impressive walls, quarried from Princeton stone to its L-shaped pool, this is a grand house. $250,000

A new Princeton Borough townhouse is available for rent. Gracious living and entertaining, and a convenient location are among its features. Leasing possible up to three years. Furnished.

To own land is to feel yourself established in a community. And no matter how much or how little the amount of land, just knowing that there is a spot you can call your own can be tremendously reassuring. It is interesting to note that countries, too, own property. The world's largest landowner, in fact, is none other than the United States. This country owns approximately 761,301,000 acres. These are valued at $78,813,000,000!

Investments such as land are possible through WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100). Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5. Let us advertise your home for a fast and profitable sale.

HELPFUL HINT:

If you own land or plan to buy, be sure to check with your community zoning laws.

If Al can do it, you can do it.

For years Al has been finding reasons not to panel his basement, but the real reason was, he was afraid to tackle the job. Four weekends ago he took the plunge. He came in and talked it over with us. We told him what materials he'd need, how to go about it, and problems he'd run into, like dampness, crooked walls, pipes, windows.

Al listens well. His basement is finished now, and he can't remember what seemed so hard.

So, come on. You can do it!

Training in Jobs Skills Increasingly Popular at Princeton High

It's out: college-for-college's sake, or as one Princeton High teacher puts it, "college, because mama and papa say so."

Princeton's high school is busily recording an expansion of interest in what people used to call vocational courses. In fact, almost ten percent of PHS's students — 132, and growing—are enrolled in what PHS calls "outside placement." True, the figure includes 37 kids in University courses.

But the 26-student figure given last week for enrollment in Distributive Education is already 32; the 32-student figure for the Co-operative Industrial Education program is already 44, so scratch that 132 and start adding.

Why?

"PHS has opened up to kids the idea that there's more to life than the academic world," thinks Barbara Silverstein, head of Distributive Education. She traces the beginning to the early '60's, when Kenneth Michael was PHS principal. Her own program is in its eighth year.

"Also," she adds, "kids today think of work as something they'd like to do for a while, and maybe then go to college . . ."

"But you've got to have skill today, in any job," says PHS Principal George Petrillo. He sees the current spurt in vocational interest as the flowering of seeds planted several years ago. Co-operating with Princeton's Rotary members, he began inviting plumbers, airline stewardesses, brick-layers, engineers, architects, welders . . . "from the semi-skilled right on up," to visit PHS and talk to any student who wanted to come.

"We weren't doing much for the kids going on to technical school," he acknowledges, "or for kids going right into a job that didn't need much skill. But today, you need skill."

And, of course, the new Mercer County Vocational School has been a tremendous factor. PHS has 23 enrolled there, as of last week, compared to six in June. Sophisticated equipment, beyond anything a local high school could afford, is a lure to kids who want welding, electronics or beauty culture.

What do these "outside" students work at?

"Well there was one kid I remember from a few years ago," smiles Mrs. Silverstein, "a black guy, turned off by school and just floating. But with art ability. I helped him find a job in one of these little Princeton boutiques, and he found his niche. He went on to fashion school in New York, and now he's a Seventh Avenue fashion success."

"I've got a girl student making transistors at RCA," reports John Scott, who runs Co-operative Industrial Education. "One kid, a few years ago, knew he was going to college and got this job at Forrestal. Well, as a college freshman in engineering, he told me he was the only one in class with any practical knowledge!

"And right now, I've got a student working for the greens keeper on a local golf course. Say—do you know how many KINDS of grasses they use on a golf course? Anyhow, his employer says he'll
